

"The history of liberty is a history of the limitation of governmental power not the increase of it. When we resist, therefore, the concentration of power we are resisting the processes of death, because a concentration of power is what always precedes the destruction of human liberties."

13 Deaths Are Blamed On New England Storm

BOSTON (AP)—A sneak northeast storm whipped by gale force winds deposited up to 18 inches of snow and caused at least 13 deaths in New England.

Temperatures dropped into the teens over much of the area after the storm passed Sunday. Many highways, cleared of all but an inch or two of packed snow, became covered by sheets of ice.

The wind, clocked at 92 miles an hour at Truro on Cape Cod, lashed coastal communities, built up huge drifts and created blizzard-like conditions.

In Maine, four women drowned when their car slid off U.S. Route 1 and landed upside down in a Passamaquoddy Bay cove at Robbinston.

At least nine other persons, six in Massachusetts and three in Connecticut, died from heart attacks brought on by shoveling.

Judge in Ruby Trial Overrules Verdict Motion

By RELMAN MORIN

DALLAS (AP)—Attorneys for Jack Ruby opened his murder trial today with a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal and Judge Joe B. Brown promptly overruled it.

The defense attorneys, Melvin Belli and Joe Tonahill, said they based the motion on the result of a neurological examination of Ruby conducted Jan. 29-30.

Ruby is charged with murder with malice in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

Tonahill said that the examination showed "brain damage."

James Bowie, assistant district attorney, objected there was "no procedure" for this.

In overruling the motion for acquittal, the judge said "that is a matter for the jury to decide."

The defense also offered two

France Prepares For New, Direct Presidential Vote

By JOSEPH E. DYNAN
PARIS (AP) — The vote doesn't take place until late in 1965, but French politicians are warming up to their country's first direct presidential election in more than a century.

A constitutional amendment has eliminated the electoral college of some 100,000 notables who named Charles de Gaulle in 1958. The amendment handed the decision to the electorate. French politicians agree that this alters the scene considerably, although just how is yet to be seen.

Gaston Defferre, 53, mayor of Marseille, got the ball rolling as the Socialist party's official candidate. With the help of imaginative publicity, he has launched a "New Frontiers" sort of pitch with an "Association for the Horizons of 1980." The association is designed to lure support from young voters outside the regular Socialist party ranks.

The independent-Republicans, a minor segment of the present governmental coalition, are already urging De Gaulle to run for another seven-year term.

As a practiced politician De Gaulle is hiding his intentions, but most persons expect him to run. As of now, they also expect him to win.

Several other candidates also may make the race, but it is difficult to say who or how many.

The simple fact of popular election puts a new emphasis on the office of president. The greatly increased owner of the presidency under the constitution of the Fifth Republic is another factor. So, too, is the towering personality of De Gaulle himself, if he faces the voters for the first time as a candidate.

The amendment of 1962 provides for a wide open initial race, then a runoff between the two top runners if no one gets a majority on the first ballot.

Between the initial vote and the runoff, any candidate can withdraw. The runoff is between the two top men left in the running. In this way, the man in second place in the first vote could withdraw in favor of the man who came in third.

Some politicians, mindful of the Kennedy tragedy, have suggested that France elect a vice president at the same time. This idea has encountered icy opposition from De Gaulle, and so is ruled out. De Gaulle does not want anyone else's name on the same ballot.

At present, there seems little chance for Defferre or anyone else to beat De Gaulle. But De Gaulle sets his own rules, and his personal vanity is a factor. Some persons feel that if De Gaulle fails to get an outright majority on the first ballot, he might decide he had been repudiated by more than half the voters, and then pull out.

For this reason, the first aim of the anti-Gaullists is to force him into a runoff.

Other candidacies are likely

Compromise on Tax Reduction

By EDMUND LEBRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — House and Senate conferees expect to hammer out a tax reduction compromise in about three days next week—which would mean millions of Americans could begin drawing bigger pay envelopes before mid-March.

One day of preliminary discussions this week apparently demonstrated willingness on both sides to resolve amicably the more than 200 changes the Senate made in the House bill. All but a handful of these are technical or minor.

The conferees get back to discussions and probably start voting Monday. One of them predicted agreement by Wednesday—possibly even by Tuesday—on a bill to reduce personal and corporate income taxes by about $1.5 billion. This would be bigger than the House cut and smaller than the Senate version.

Last week the Senate approved a cut of $11.6 billion. The House had approved a cut of $11.1 billion last Sept. 25.

The rest of the week would be needed to write a conference report and the House would be expected to act — with approval virtually assured—about Feb. 24. Senate leaders have spoken of taking the measure up the day the House finishes work on it. Under such a schedule, the to bob up from old-line parties—the Communists, the middle-roading and badly misnamed Radical-Socialists, and perhaps the popular Republicans and their allies.

The only other direct presidential election in France was in 1848 when Louis Napoleon Bonaparte won the office. Three years later he dissolved Parliament and had himself proclaimed emperor as Napoleon III.

bill could go to President Johnson for his prompt signature before the end of February.

Withholding rate cuts — the equivalent of a small pay raise for wage-earning and salaried Americans—would begin a week later if, as expected, the conferees retain the Senate wording on this point.

Two big issues are in controversy between the two chambers. The House voted more lenient tax treatment of certain long-term capital gains than present law provides. The Senate deleted this provision.

Another major difference between the two bills relates to the deduction, for federal income tax purposes, of state and local taxes.

Nikita Welcomes Bulgarian Premier

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Khrushchev went to the railway station today to welcome Bulgaria's premier and Communist party chief, Todor Zhivkov, for an official visit.

Zhivkov is the last of the leaders of the East European camp to come to Moscow to confer with the Kremlin's chiefs. Western observers assume the meetings are designed not only to strengthen the economic ties in the bloc but also to reassure the Soviet leadership as it faces the challenge of Peking's Communists.

Japan Being Pressured to Recognize Reds

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's left wing and some businessmen are applying the pressure on the government to follow the example of France and recognize Red China.

Prime Minister Hayato Ikeda, an Asian friend of the United States, refuses to be stampeded into abandoning his policy of nonrecognition. But he shows signs of wavering on some points.

In debate with the Socialists and Communists in Parliament Wednesday, Ikeda conceded that a new situation would arise should Red China be seated in the United Nations this fall as the sole representative of the Chinese people.

If that happens, Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira told Socialist Chichiro Hozumi, Japan will "normalize" its diplomatic relations with the mainland. He did not use the word recognition, however. This position leaves the government room to maneuver once the issue reaches the decision-making stage.

Ohira said Japan has yet to determine what policy to follow toward the question of seating the Red Chinese in the United Nations. This appeared to be a retreat from declarations that Japan and the United States would consult closely with the view of staving off Red Chinese entry.

Americans here and in Washington are reported to be recoiled to the likelihood that Japan cannot long resist if the dam breaks and a torrent of recognition by other states results from France's move.

Business pressure for closer ties with Peking has come from firms that believe a considerable expansion of trade between the two countries is possible.

Such leaders of Ikeda's Liberal Democratic party as ex-Prime Minister Tanzan Ishibashi and ex-Ministers Kenzo Matsumura and Tatsunosuke Takasaki share this view.

Ikeda's answer is to point out that the government is stepping up economic exchanges on a nongovernmental, nonpolitical basis. But trade, totaling $125 million in 1963, is limited. This figure could be enlarged considerably if Japan were to extend generous credit.

The United States and the Chinese Nationalists oppose any arrangements which could be interpreted as aid, not trade, with Red China.

In our view, it couldn't have happened to a nicer bourbon. We were minding our business (which was none too big at the time), when suddenly a lot of people started asking for Antique Bourbon. The only reason we can think of is that they must have tasted it. And liked its full flavor. Older folks tell us we've recaptured the character of the great pre-Prohibition bourbons. If we have, it's no accident. We have a very old-fashioned attitude. We go right out to the corn-cribs to select the ears we prefer. (Not too moist, mind you.) We heat our sour mash gently. Never over 212 degrees. So there's no danger of harshness. We could turn out whiskey faster, if we took less trouble. But we're sure you wouldn't want us to, once you've tasted it.

Train Robbery Suspect Freed In English Trial

AYLESBURY, England (UPI) — James Daly, one of the major defendants in Britain's great train robbery trial, was acquitted last week after the judge ruled the prosecution had failed to prove its case against the pudgy antique dealer.

The verdict on Friday was the first to be returned in the trial.

Daly was one of 21 defendants charged with either planning, taking part, or receiving some of the loot from the $7.3 million mail train robbery last Aug. 8.

Shortly after the robbery, police identified the 31-year-old Daly as one of the men they wanted to question. It was nearly four months before police found Daly, living under an assumed name.

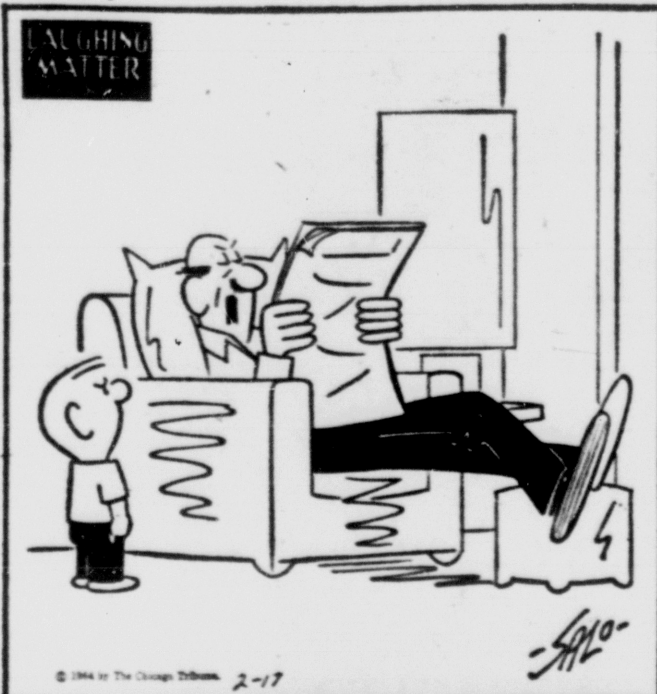

He was charged with conspiring to rob the train and of actually taking part in the robbery, believed to be the largest cash theft in history.

Judge Edmund Davies interrupted the trial to announce that Daly's attorney "has submitted to me that I ought to stop the case."

Having come to the conclusion that that is the right course to adopt, the judge continued, "it is now that I have decided that it would not be right for the case against Mr. Daly to proceed."

The judge said that "suspicion of a crime is quite insufficient" and directed the jury to bring in a verdict of innocent. Daly was freed immediately.

The trial of the other defendants continued.

Deaths

MOUNT VERNON, N.Y. (AP) — Grafton Wilcox, 84, managing editor of the New York Herald Tribune from 1931 to 1941 and a Washington political writer for many years previously died Sunday.

Wilcox also had worked in Washington for The Associated Press and Chicago Tribune before joining the Herald Tribune in 1924. He was born in Griggsville, Ill.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Dr. William S. Webb, 82, noted physicist and archaeologist, who was prominent in development of the atomic bomb during World War II, died Saturday. Webb was associated with the University of Kentucky since 1901.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Josephus Daniels Jr., 69, chairman of the board of the Raleigh News and Observer Publishing Co., since 1959, died Saturday after a brief illness. Daniels was a son of the late Josephus Daniels, former secretary of the Navy under President Woodrow Wilson. He had served as business manager, advertising manager and president of the publishing company until he retired in 1959. He was born in Washington, D.C.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Robert Lee Thornton Sr., 83, mayor of Dallas from 1953 to 1961, banker and civil leader who was known as "Mr. Dallas," died Saturday. Thornton had been a leader in the development and growth of Dallas for nearly 50 years.

LEXINGTON, Va. (AP) — Col. William Couper, 79, retired business officer of Virginia Military Institute, historian and former president of the Southern Athletic Conference, died Saturday.

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Gordon Palmer, 49, Sarasota County business and civic leader, died Saturday after a long illness.

Palmer, a member of one of Chicago's oldest families, was a grandson of Potter Palmer, who built the Palmer House. He was born in Chicago.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — David Andrews, 30, son of actor Dana Andrews, died Saturday after being in a semicoma for a month because of a cerebral hemorrhage. He was an announcer and musical director of radio station KFRC in San Francisco.

SLIDING AND SLIPPING ON THE SNOW

Slippery sidewalks and icy streets mean a high accident toll. Physicians usually work time and a half during the winter, setting brokenbones and taping sprained ankles. Visit any hospital if you doubt this statement. Many of the patients will be out of circulation for months and some will be disabled permanently.

Falls are high on the list of causes of accidents, second only to traffic mishaps. They occur in young and old but are more devastating in the elderly. Individuals over 65 compose less than 10 per cent of our total population but account for 25 per cent of accidental deaths and 20 per cent of serious injuries. The majority are fractures due to falling.

Fractured hips and legs in our senior citizens present special problems. Many result from fundamental defects in gait or posture. The aged may tumble even when the steps and sidewalks are not dangerous—all the more reason why they should stay home when the streets are icy. The best preventive is adequate removal of snow, ice, and slush from steps, sidewalks, and paths. If this cannot be done, sprinkle salt, sand, gravel or fine cinders over the area.

The closest I ever came to breaking my neck was one morning when the porch was a sheet of ice. Snow in a leaky gutter in the roof had thawed, drenching the porch and steps with water. The temperature dropped during the night freezing the water.

Above all, take it easy when walking. Use handrails going up and down outside stairways. Wear rubbers or overshoes with deeply grooved soles and heels—the counterpart of snow tires on autos.

There is no such thing as a graceful fall but when slipping on ice, try to relax. Slump or use the roll motion that football players, pole vaulters, and acrobats know so well. The trick is to divide the weight of the body over the hips, thighs, and hands.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Leg Changes

Mrs. M. writes: Do children's bones change as they grow older? My 10-year-old daughter had nice, straight legs up until the last few months. Now the upper part seems to be getting bowed. Need anything be done about this condition?

Reply

Changes occur but as a rule there is no cause for concern because the legs straighten out with full growth. I assume the girl is eating a balanced diet and is getting adequate exercise.

Hallucinations

This condition usually is associated with a mental disorder. Problems of this nature are best treated with psychotherapy, medication, or shock therapy.

Underground Office Opens

DENTON, Tex. (AP) — About 100 federal employees began moving Saturday into a $2.7-million underground office building that could serve as an alternate national capital in case of enemy attack.

It is the first of its kind in the nation, may serve as a model for constructing seven others to house other regional headquarters of the U.S. Office of Civil Defense and the Office of Emergency Planning.

The building has been under construction for three years on a 20-acre site three miles east of downtown Denton. The two-story underground center has been constructed to withstand the blast of a 20-megaton hydrogen blast as close as three miles away.

With its own power plant, water well and other utilities, the center could become a buried city, capable of accommodating 500 persons for 30 days or 200 for a much longer period.

Between the two underground office floors—142 feet wide and 172 feet long—is a layer of earth five feet thick.

Court Awards $10,000 to Lodge Operator

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Court of Claims awarded $10,263.69 here to the former operator of two lodges in the Rocky Mountain National Park.

The award went to James O. Bishop, who sued the government after failing to get a renewal of his operating leases in 1959 for Bear Lake Lodge and Fern Lake Lodge on the Eastern Slope of the Colorado Rocky Mountains.

Bishop asked $406,288 as compensation for the property he contended was taken by the government. His family had operated the lodges for about 40 years.

The court held "there was no taking by the government of any property belonging to the plaintiff (Bishop)."

"In substance, the plaintiff's claim is based solely upon the loss of the right to operate the lodges."

"That right was not taken from him by the government. Instead, it expired in accordance with the express terms of a contract between the plaintiff and the government."

"The government, acting through the secretary of the interior, merely declined to renew the plaintiff's right after its expiration, as the government was legally entitled to do."

The court said $10,263 was the "book value" of improvements made by Bishop at the lodges.

Reports Differ On Reliability Of U.S. Missiles

mara and LeMay could have potential political repercussions. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona has raised the question of missile reliability during his campaign for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater, a major general in the Air Force Reserve, has challenged the reliability of missiles and called for more funds for manned bombers. This evidently was the position taken by LeMay and rejected by McNamara before the House committee.

More light on the controversy may be shed Tuesday when the committee releases a transcript of the hearings that were held for two weeks beginning last Jan. 27.

The transcript, however, will be censored by the Department of Defense. It is conceivable that figures on the reliability of missiles would be deleted — if deemed classified.

Most members of the committee evidently were more impressed by LeMay's figures than by those of McNamara, for they added $82 million to the defense authorization bill for development of a new manned bomber and a new manned interceptor plane.

McNamara did not ask for this. According to the official report of the committee, LeMay did.

A minority of the committee, however, agreed with McNamara. One of them, Rep. Samuel S. Stratton, D-N.Y., has received permission to file a minority report with the House by midnight tonight.

This indicates that there will be a fight when the bill reaches the floor of the House. The bill, which would authorize $16.9 billion for military procurement, research and development, is scheduled for House action on Thursday.

Stratton told a newsman that Reps. Jeffery Cobelan, D-Calif., and Otis G. Pike, D-N.Y., would join him in the minority report. Stratton, Pike and Cobelan led the fight last year against the committee's decision to add funds for research on the RS70 bomber, funds that McNamara did not want.

Work Resumed On Tax Bill Compromise

Congress generally planned another light week.

The controversial civil rights bill—cornerstone with the tax cut of the Johnson administration's legislative program—was expected to arrive at the Senate's door today. The 11-part omnibus measure received 290-130 approval from the House last week.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, by a parliamentary maneuver, can keep this bill pending on the Senate desk after a first reading.

This will give him control over when he wants to join battle on it with the Southerners, who are set to stage a bitter filibuster.

The latest word was that a farm bill combining relief for cotton textile mills and a voluntary wheat control program will be brought up in the Senate before civil rights. Wheat spokesmen have said the law must be enacted by early March or it will not be effective.

A House Banking subcommittee starts hearings today on President Johnson's housing bill. Robert C. Weaver, head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, was called as the first witness. A Senate subcommittee begins work on it Wednesday.

A House Labor subcommittee scheduled the start of hearings on another Johnson program—a plan to institute double time for overtime in certain industries, a penalty designed to encourage employment of more workers rather than the use of overtime labor.

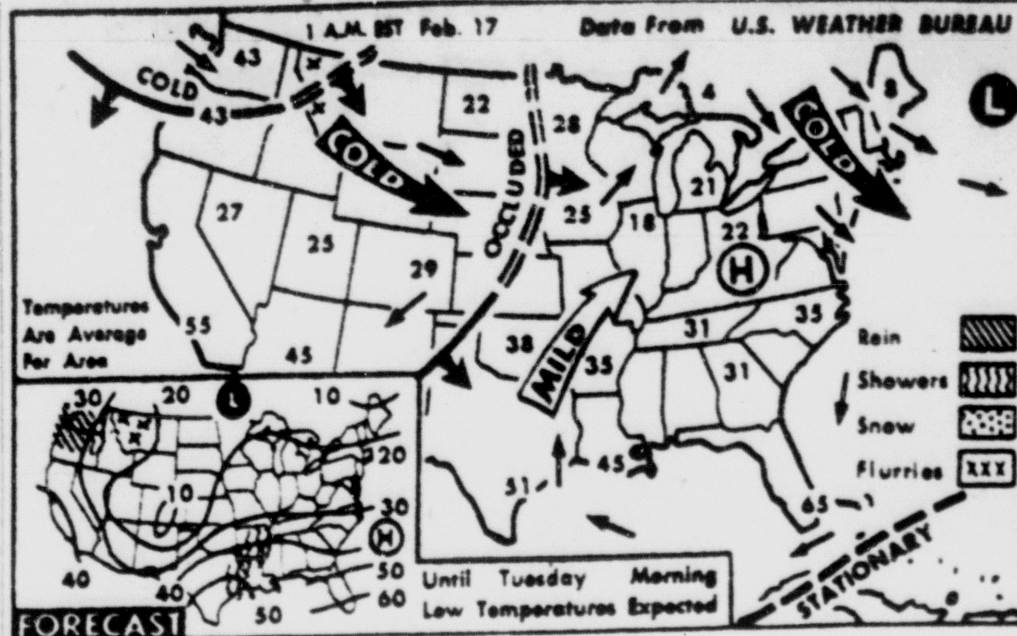

Secretary of Labor Willard Wirtz was the leadoff witness for this measure.

Baseball and football magazines will be on hand today and Tuesday before a Senate Anti-trust subcommittee which is considering a professional sports antitrust bill.

The Senate Rules Committee continues behind closed doors its probe into the doings of Bobby Baker, former secretary of the Senate majority.

On the House floor, the most important bill this week will be the $16.9-billion military procurement authorization bill coming up Thursday.

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Rain is forecast Monday night along the Pacific northwest coast with more general showers in inland areas and some snow over the northern Rockies and northern Plateaus. Temperatures will be on the cold side along the middle Atlantic coast states as well as over the far west. Elsewhere across the nation mild temperatures for the season are expected to continue with a general warming trend in the eastern half.

The Nation's Weather

(Report furnished by U.S. Weather Bureau Station at Peterson Field)

Most of the nation was having clear skies this morning with the exception of scattered cloudiness in the mid-section and northwest quarter of the country.

Temperatures were in the mid-20s across the northern Plains while the remainder of the country was having seasonable readings.

Precipitation during the last six hours has been nearly negligible. On 3 of the heavier amounts recorded was North Bend, Ore., which received .20 of an inch for the period.

Some light snow fell in the mountains of the central Rockies.

room for the Communists, one Nationalist diplomat said. "Impossible. They have full diplomatic status. They will stay."

The French have remained mum except for one official who pointed out that the property was acquired by the Chinese Republic 27 years ago—long before the Communists chased Chiang's government to Formosa.

Peking's charge d'affaires was on his way to Paris when the dirty white smoke of burning documents puffed out of the Nationalist embassy.

Only a small consular section in one ground floor corner was humming with a rush of last-minute passport and visa business before moving to Brussels.

The five or six members of the UNESCO delegation rattle around in the spacious, ornate salons.

Old newspapers litter a marble-topped sideboard. Charred papers choke a fireplace and a coal shovel leans nearby. A table loaded with unwashed steel glasses is left from a farewell toast. A few trunks wait for shipment.

The caretaker, a French woman, spoke to a member of the UNESCO delegation on the house phone, but he didn't want to see any newsmen. "We are very busy," he said.

Judge in Ruby Trial Overrules Verdict Motion

motions on grounds of double jeopardy and res judicata—that is, the question already had been adjudicated. These apparently were based on testimony introduced in a bond hearing and in a hearing on a motion to transfer the trial to another city.

Judge Brown, asked about double jeopardy motion, said, "I don't know. There is no provision for it in Texas law. Of course, they're basing all their motions on this psychiatric report."

The defense attorneys huddled closely with Ruby, leaning over him as he sat at a table in the area reserved for attorneys.

Ruby, wearing a dark suit with a brown shirt, looked pale and his expression was grave. The historic trial began formally at 9:04 a.m. (CST).

The courtroom was completely filled.

Turkish Greek War Feared Over Cyprus

Turkish and Greek Cypriots for restraint. Makarios warned, however, that his government—meaning the Greek Cypriots—would "not give in to threats, pressure or blackmail."

Britain's chief U.N. delegate, Sir Patrick Dean, was expected to tell the 11-nation Security Council an international peace force is urgently needed on the Mediterranean island, where about 3,000 British troops have been trying to enforce a ceasefire.

Britain ordered about 300 more troops, including an armored squadron, to Cyprus to give its force more mobility. U.S. Undersecretary of State George W. Ball returned to Washington Sunday night after failing to persuade Makarios to accept a U.S.-British proposal for a 10,000-man peace-keeping force supplied by NATO nations. The archbishop said he would only accept a force approved by the United Nations and made up of British Commonwealth nations.

Ball, who won acceptance of the NATO force from Greece and Turkey, described Cyprus as a "very critical problem."

"The first order of business is to restore law and order to that unfortunate land," Ball told newsmen. "The bloodshed must be stopped."

U.S. officials were banking on the council debate to increase diplomatic pressure on Makarios to take a more amenable stand. A number of U.N. members were reported unsympathetic to the Greek Cypriot leader's adamant stand, and observers in Washington doubted he could muster enough votes to get any council action in his favor.

The U.S.-British proposal envisaged a mediator who would help the two sides work out a long-term solution.

Turkey, as a guarantor of Cyprus under the 1960 treaty that made the former British colony a republic, has the right to send in troops if it considers them necessary to protect the 120,000 Turkish Cypriots from the 480,000 Greek Cypriots. Greece, also a guarantor, has a similar right.

Cadet Wing To Have Foreign Air Beginning

The Air Force Academy Cadet Wing will have an international air beginning Feb. 24.

On the 24th, five Japanese Air Force Academy cadets will arrive to spend six days with their American counterparts and four honor graduates from South American service academies will be on the site to receive a briefing on the U.S. school's mission and operation.

The Japanese youths are returning a visit paid to their Academy last summer by members of the Cadet Wing.

During their stay, the visitors will room in Vandenberg Hall. They will march to meals and attend classes with their hosts.

In addition to receiving an Academy briefing, the Japanese cadets will receive T-33 indoctrination rides at Lowry AFB and tour NORAD headquarters. They'll also take part in intramural sports.

Feb. 28, the cadets will visit Denver and on Saturday will wind up their stay by taking part in a Cadet Wing parade and attending a dance.

The four South Americans are honor graduates of service academies in their countries. They represent Argentina, Bolivia, Chile, and Peru.

Primary purpose of the honor grads cross-country tour is to acquaint future South American leaders with the North American way of life—both military and civilian—and to give the new officers a knowledge of how we live and work.

Jimmy's Camp Set to Feast On Bobcat Today

A variety of wild game will be served at 7 p.m. today when Jimmy's Camp Sportsmen's Club holds its annual dinner for members and friends.

Dishes will include elk, deer, antelope, beaver, porcupine, goose, pheasant, trout, pike, sunfish, buffalo, rabbit, mountain lion, bobcat, bear and raccoon. Anyone having any of these and would like to contribute to the dinner will be greatly appreciated.

The dinner is open to the public. Those attending are asked to bring a dish and their own service. The club will furnish butter, rolls, coffee, sugar and napkins.

The Flying W Wranglers will provide entertainment. The club has a membership of 140 persons and meets the third Monday of each month. It is affiliated with the Colorado Wildlife Federation and is an outdoor conservation organization open to anyone who would like to conserve wildlife for future generations.

Those interested in membership may contact Lynn Hart, 410 E. Boulder St., membership chairman, or Art Henderson, 2437 E. Willamette St., president.

Police Report Four Theft Cases in City

Police this morning reported four theft cases which took place over the weekend. In one of the thefts, pewter mugs and pitchers worth $221 were taken from Bryan Scott Jewellers, 105 N. Tejon St.

The theft occurred Saturday night. Thieves broke out the glass in a back door to gain entry. The door glass at the rear of the Typewriter Supply Co., located at the same address, was also broken, but the thieves apparently did not enter the store.

A car stolen from Allan J. Aniscard, 1106 N. Nevada Ave., Sunday afternoon was abandoned after thieves stole items worth $120 from the vehicle.

The car was found by police early this morning in the 60 block of South Tejon Street. It had been stolen from the 1400 block of North Nevada Ave. where Aniscard had parked it Sunday.

Aniscard told officers a .22 caliber rifle and three tires were missing from the car.

A car was stolen from the parking lot at the Bowl Mor Lane sometime Sunday. Owner of the car is Harlan Dean Hartford, 1109 Race St., whose wife, Bessie Hartford, told police she parked it in the lot at 10 a.m. When she returned at 12:30 p.m., the car was gone.

Mrs. Hartford told officer the car was unlocked and the keys were in the ignition. A pickup is out for the 1959 Chevrolet.

James Richard Hatchett of the YMCA, 206 E. Bijou St., reported the theft of 130 long-playing phonograph records from his room Sunday night. Hatchett said he left the room at 8:30 p.m. and returned to find the records gone at 11:50 p.m.

There was no sign of forced entry to the room although Hatchett said he had locked it when he went out.

Fire Department Probes Arson Possibilities

The fire department is investigating the possibility of arson in the American Construction Co. blaze which destroyed an office and warehouse Wednesday night, police reported today.

Battalion Chief Ralph W. Nice said today that three neighborhood boys have been questioned about the fire which caused an estimated $6,650 damage to American Construction Co. property at 1013 S. Nevada Ave.

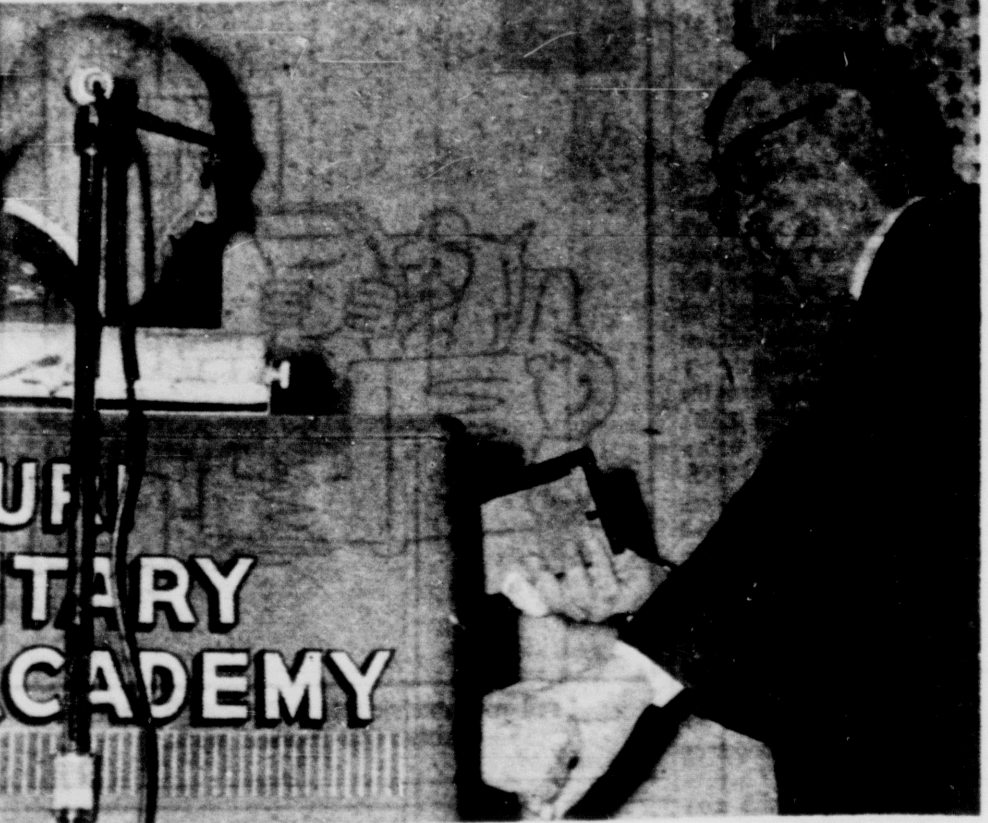

Nice said the investigation is a routine matter and there is no concrete evidence to indicate arson. Since the fire was of undetermined origin, we are following our routine procedure of investigating for the possibility of arson," Nice said.

Children May Have Caused Fire in Home

Children playing with matches is given by the fire department as probable cause of a fire at the residence of William Carver, 1608 Yuma St., this morning. A coverlet on a bed was destroyed and there was some smoke damage.

The fire department received an alarm at 8:57 a.m. and Companies 2 and 6 responded. The fire department made two resuscitator runs Sunday. At 4:19 p.m. the Company No. 1 rescue squad went to 329 N. Pine St., where Mrs. Nellie May Brown, 63, was suffering from asthma and an apparent heart attack. An inhalator was used for 15 minutes, after which Mrs. Brown was taken to a hospital.

At 9:30 p.m. Sunday Company Nos. 3 and 4 rescue squads went to 320 N. 15th St., where Oscar Haas, 62, suffered an apparent heart attack. An inhalator was used for 12 minutes, after which the patient was taken to a hospital in an ambulance.

Stamp Club To Vote on 1963 Stamps

The Colorado Springs Stamp Club will vote on various aspects of the past year's - 1963 - stamps at the regular meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, at the local YMCA.

Members will vote for the best stamp design, the worst stamp design, and the least necessary stamp issue of 1963. A consolidated club vote will be entered in the National 16th Annual Design Derby sponsored by "Linns Weekly Stamp News". The club is offering a prize to the lucky voter who manages to guess correctly the results of the national poll.

To assist the members in their voting, Cusi R. Wright, a member of the club, will have on display all the postage stamps issued during 1963. In addition, Mr. Wright will display all the winning stamp designs of the past several years.

Linns Annual Design Derby has become a favorite of stamp collectors. It is an "once-a-year" opportunity for stamp collectors - philatelists - to express their feelings, both favorable or unfavorable, towards the stamp designers and the final selections made by the United States Post Office Department.

A second feature of the evening's program will be a short talk on the Cape of Good Hope triangle stamps by Martin Livney, owner and operator of Colorado Springs Martin's Coin and Stamp Shop.

The public is invited to attend any of the regular meetings which are held twice monthly on the 1st and 3rd Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the local YMCA.

Man Gets Bullet In Foot During Hunt

Kenneth E. Dotson of Denver accidentally shot himself thru the right foot with a .22 calibre rifle Sunday, the sheriff's department reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Eldon McCune, Dotson was out rabbit shooting with friends three miles east of Calhan at the time. He was treated in the emergency room at the Memorial Hospital.

The New York Times said in a dispatch from Washington that the OAS investigators reportedly had found the Communists had little to do with last month's anti-U.S. riots and that gunfire by U.S. troops to keep Panamanian mobs out of the Canal Zone was "disproportionate" to the threat posed.

It also found the U.S. troop action did not justify Panama's aggression charges, the Times said.

CRESTED BUTTE, Colo. (AP) — David Orndorff of the Colorado University Race Club won a senior Class C giant slalom race sanctioned by the Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association Sunday.

Orndorff's time was 1:25.4. He was followed by Buzz Dent of the Aspen Ski Club in 1:26.9 and David Ranney, also of Aspen, in 1:27.8.

Others in the first 10 were, in order, George Boyden, Albuquerque, N.M.; Thomas Leroy, Western State College; William Kiarsin, Colorado State University; Tom Gray, Western State; John Provty, Colorado College; Lew Krieger, Crested Butte, and Bert Liebmann, Regis.

Mayall to Head Professional Unit UF Drive

Broun H. Mayall, director of customer and personnel relations of the Colorado Springs National Bank, has been appointed to head the Professional Division of the Pikes Peak United Fund in its campaign next fall.

The organization for soliciting physicians, dentists, osteopaths, veterinarians, ministers, engineers, architects, lawyers and accountants is one of the most complicated in the campaign structure. Mayall will begin this task this month. His plans call for a pilot campaign to speed solicitation in this division which has been one of the last to finish during previous United Fund drives. He hopes to complete an intensive campaign in this division and to report it over the top at the kickoff of the next drive in late September.

Mayall has been a member of the Board of Trustees of the Pikes Peak United Fund since it was organized. During each of the first three campaigns he also headed the public relations committee.

Mayall is a retired colonel who served his last eight years with the Air Force at Ent. He was director of information of the Air Defense Command. He holds a masters degree in psychology from the University of Oklahoma. He was registrar of the Oklahoma College for women for eleven years.

Ricksha Man Held In Bombing of Saigon Theater

shooting and blast apparently were the work of a highly skilled terrorist team.

Witnesses saw at least two terrorists. They said one shot the military policeman at close range. Another hurried into the theater with a canvas satchel. A third man — or woman — may have been involved.

A U.S. military spokesman said the lone Vietnamese civil policeman on duty outside the theater was seen pedaling away on a bicycle shortly before the attack.

The MP was killed by a single bullet through the neck. At least three shots were heard, however, indicating the soldier may have got off some shots.

The movie house was rocked by two terrorist bombs placed against a wall last Sept. 21, but there were no American casualties. The theater is on one of the most heavily guarded streets in Saigon, and only persons who show U.S. Defense Department identification cards are allowed into it.

The audience, which included U.S. servicemen, civilian officials and American dependents, was watching "The List of Adrian Messenger." Army Maj. William Koch, a patron, said most of the audience ducked under seats or rushed to the front when the Marine captain and an usher shouted warnings.

Seven Americans remained hospitalized — six servicemen and a female military employee. Five American children were treated and released. None was seriously injured.

The nine Vietnamese who were injured were outside the building.

U.S. Charge d'Affaires David G. Nes scheduled a meeting with Premier Nguyen Khanh to discuss new security measures for the nearly 10,000 Americans in Saigon.

A U.S. spokesman emphasized no evacuation of American civilians is being considered.

Report Says Burton May Come Back

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has indicated that British actor Richard Burton may return to the United States when he wants, where he wants and with or without Elizabeth Taylor.

Its decision met with the disapproval of Rep. Michael Feighan, D-Ohio.

The congressman has been waging a campaign to keep Burton out of the country in order to "protect" the morals of the nation's youth.

The knowledge that Burton — now in Canada with Miss Taylor — apparently has been cleared for entry emerged from two developments:

—The U.S. Immigration Service said here it expected the Welsh actor to have no difficulty in crossing the border into the United States. It said he could enter the country at any point he desires.

—The State Department said Thursday it could find no legal grounds on which to revoke Burton's visa, issued to him on Jan. 22 for a period of six months.

Feighan, whose position as chairman of the House immigration subcommittee enables him to exert considerable influence in this field, said he was "shocked" at the State Department decision.

"Basic morality is not dead in this country," Feighan asserted Thursday. "Even if it is dead in the State Department."

Burton and Miss Taylor are currently in Toronto where he is rehearsing for a New York production of "Hamlet."

Girl Who Survived in Arctic, Goes to School

By RALEIGH ALLSBROOK

NEW YORK (AP) — A year ago a small plane carrying a girl and a man crashed in the frozen waste of Canada's fabled north country.

That marked the beginning of one of the most remarkable survival stories of modern times.

Despite painful injuries, temperatures that dropped to 45 below and scarcely any food, Helen Klaben and Ralph Flores prayed and struggled and somehow managed to live until they were rescued 49 days later.

Today, Miss Klaben, 22, an attractive girl with brown hair and deep thoughts, is studying at Columbia University.

She has regained the 45 pounds she lost during the ordeal and hopes to complete college work she dropped several years ago.

Flores, 43, is back in the cold country, working on a distant Early Warning Line job on Barter Islands off Alaska.

He is trying to regain the $8,000 he estimates the ill-fated flight cost him.

The accident forced the amputation of all of Miss Klaben's toes on her right foot, but it has also brought her some financial benefits.

Money from a magazine article on her experience and her recently published book "Hey, I'm Alive" enabled her to go back to college.

"I sure hope it holds out," she said, smiling and speaking in a soft voice. "I've got two years to go."

She selects her words with considerable care when she looks back on the survival. "It matured me and has given me a new insight into life."

"I feel I have an inner calm now. I don't rely on external things—such as a mink coat or money or traveling—to be happy."

She isn't certain what she wants to do when she finishes college, but she feels her life has definitely taken a new direction.

"I'm trying to develop all my experiences into some order so others perhaps can learn from these experiences—so I can express them in meaningful terms," she said.

Speaking of Flores, who stamped out the S.O.S. in the snow that led to their rescue, she declared: "He showed a tremendous amount of courage and ingenuity. So much strength. An amazing amount of physical and mental strength."

"He is a very fine person. He treated me like his daughter."

Both she and Flores, a Mormon lay minister, had great faith in the Almighty and never gave up hope they would be rescued, she said.

"I most wanted to live for my mother's benefit," she added. "I knew it would be awful for her not to know for a long time whether I was dead or possibly still alive."

Flores, reached by phone at his Dew Line post, said, "Many people ask me if I am a religious fanatic, but that was my only means to survive."

His wife and six children still live in San Bruno, Calif. His future plans are uncertain. But he hopes to take an examination this summer in an effort to regain his pilot's license.

The license was taken away after the Federal Aviation Agency found he had violated more than a dozen regulations on the flight, including failure to have adequate emergency equipment and to follow other regulations.

When fellow workers now ask him about surviving, he says he tells them "to be cautious, to have arctic gear and to follow regulations."

Miss Klaben was flying as his passenger when the plane went down Feb. 4, 1963, just inside the British Columbia border on a flight from Whitehorse, Yukon, to Seattle.

The Royal Canadian Air force called off an aerial search after 30 days, but two pilots flying supplies later spotted them.

Their only food was two cans of sardines and two cans of fruit. They also ate their tooth paste and melted snow for water.

CAPITOL STUFF

By TED LEWIS

WASHINGTON — The Johnson Congress has now been in session only five weeks. But it must be admitted that the President is already getting bounce and action in legislative matters where John F. Kennedy failed, despite all his manipulation techniques.

Before this second session of the 88th Congress met, there were plenty of educated predictions that the new President, experienced as he was as a legislative wheeler and dealer, would still not fare much better than his predecessor.

On the basis of the sluggish legislative motions in 1963 it was figured that Congress would insist on the privilege of lethargy, stall on "must bills" and, despite all of Johnson's efforts at early adjournment, hang around until the snow flies again.

Exactly the opposite is now happening. The momentum displayed on the $11 billion tax cut bill and the civil rights issue is indicative of the way Congress has speeded up under Johnson's operational leadership.

There is even a chance that Congress, now that it is in motion, will get thru its legislative duties by July 13, when the Republican National Convention convenes. Certainly, the way things are going, it will finish by the time the Democrats meet in Atlantic City in late August.

The House Appropriations Committee, for example, under Chairman Clarence Cannon (D-Mo.), is working to get all of its money bills thru the House by late spring.

In line with the speed-up strategy supervised by the President, "must" authorization bills, which have to be passed before money can be appropriated, are moving thru committees with record speed.

The Senate is cooperating with the House. Joint hearings by the Armed Services Committee and a Senate Appropriations Committee have the effect of expediting both the $17 billion defense procurement authorization and appropriation bills.

LBJ MUST RUN ON CONGRESS' RECORD

The blaze of comparative activity has been fired up in line with the President's shrewd realization that his November election chances pretty well stand or fall on the record made by the heavily Democratic-weighted Congress.

A forecast made in December by the nonpartisan National Committee for an Effective Congress concerning the importance of the President's relationship with Congress is as sound today as it was then.

"If he succeeds with Congress," said the forecast, "he will be on the road to election next November, and if he fails with Congress, it is doubtful that any vice presidential possibility, however shrewd the choice, could save him. Essentially, President Johnson's running mate is Congress."

Johnson definitely appreciates the fact that Congress is his "running mate" and that his political fortunes are inextricably locked with the fortunes of Congress.

There is also a matter of great personal pride involved. He knows his basic political reputation came from his successful activities as Senate leader. And if he cannot deliver on legislative matters while holding the highest and most powerful job in the land, then his popularity ratings would have a depressing, if not disastrous, slump.

CIVIL RIGHTS BILL WILL BE THE KEY

But the President must be most aware of the fact that despite the congressional speed-up there remains a most difficult problem ahead. If he cannot get a strong civil rights bill thru Congress this session, his legislative record will be open to challenge.

It is on this key issue, there is general agreement, that the President's reputation as a congressional miracle man is going to rise or fall.

Therefore now that the House has passed the civil rights bill virtually intact, the White House must concentrate on strategy and tactics for getting it thru the Senate.

Johnson's present strategy in this upcoming Senate fight is now beginning to unfold. He has promised civil rights leaders and his own congressional lieutenants that there will be no sell-out of the House-passed bill's "public accommodations" section in order to stifle a filibuster.

It has also been tentatively decided that the Senate, once it starts debating the issue about March 1, will be allowed to have at least two weeks.

INCREASING PRESSURE TO DO THE JOB

Then it is planned to force an anti-filibuster vote, which requires a two-thirds majority and which because of the Democratic sectional split, can be achieved only with the support of Republican senators.

If this anti-filibuster test fails on the first try, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (Mont.) then will keep the Senate in night sessions until, finally, it is hoped two-thirds of the Senate will kill the filibuster.

The President's "no sellout" pledge is far more significant than it appears. Johnson said he intended to let Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy call the signals against proposals to water down the legislation. And Kennedy certainly will never stand by and let the heart of the bill — the public accommodations section — go down the drain.

This presidential assurance to stand pat was actually a guarantee that Rep. William McCulloch (R-Ohio) wanted and got as leader of GOP House civil rights supporters.

McCulloch had no intention of pressing House Republicans to support the bill (as they did) if the administration had in mind settling for less in the Senate.

LEADERS KICKOFF CAMPAIGN — Four of the people who will lead the region's 1964 Federal Services Joint Crusade / National Health Agencies campaign came to Ent Air Force Base last Tuesday to help kick off the Ent drive.

Project officers from practically every staff agency and directorate crowded into the NCO Open Mess to hear (left to right) Frank Minor, Colorado director, National Health Agencies; Marvis Quam, secretary of the state coordinating committee, National Health Agencies; Robert Latito, regional director, Radio Free Europe; Capt. Blake Smith, chairman of the Ent AFB fund raising committee; and Don Zieg, regional director, CARE, explain the need for 100 per cent participation in the campaign. Col. Howard H. Cloud Jr., base commander, keynoted the meeting. Command project officer for this year's drive is Maj. Gen. Von R. Shores, ADC acting chief of staff.

Cease-Fire Is Failure In Ethiopian War

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — A cease-fire in the Ethiopia-Somalia border squabble appeared today to have fallen through. Each side accused the other of new attacks.

The Organization of African Unity had called for the cease-fire to start at noon Sunday. Ethiopia accused Somalia of launching fresh attacks on two frontier villages under cover of artillery.

Somali President Aden Abdulla Osman messaged U.N. Secretary-General U Thant that Ethiopian troops attacked the Somali frontier 40 minutes after the cease-fire was to start.

MAX VON SYDOW TO BE ARTHUR MILLER IN PLAY

HOLLYWOOD — What a switch! Max von Sydow, who plays Christ in "The Greatest Story Ever Told," will be Arthur Miller in the Swedish production of "After the Fall," in which the playwright doesn't exactly hand his ex-wife Marilyn Monroe a valentine. Miller already has sold the play to 18 countries. I suspect he took a cue from Gabriele D'Annunzio who wrote with such cruel candor about the great Eleanor Duse in his novel, "The Flame of Life." Tammy Grimes was surprised and delighted to discover Harve Presnell had flown on to Boston to see her open in Noel Coward's play, "High Spirits."

George Marshall, who loves the Washington Redskins football team more than anything in life, has a clause in his will turning them over to the Washington Boys Town after his death. Tony Franciosa and wife, Judy, are off for St. Louis Mo., where he'll read Carl Sandburg's words to Aaron Copeland's "The Lincoln Portrait," while Andre Previn conducts their symphony orchestra.

If Jerry Lewis ever tires of acting, he can always get top money directing. He's sneaky but he gets results. I resumed what I laughingly call my acting career in his picture, "The Patsy," wearing a huge beach umbrella for a hat. The thing was hooked onto a harness which only hurt when I walked or talked. Anyway Lewis said, "Just relax, this is a rehearsal." I did and when we'd run thru the scene once, he yelled, "Print it!" He had the grace to add that I deserved a stunt check for wearing that thing. Between takes he entertained us with funny recordings — one an imitation of the Beatles. I told him to slap their name on it and make himself another fortune. A friend of mine, after watching the Beatles, said, "Quick, Henry, the Flit!" Bob Hope took them on Thursday night. Among other things, he said: "I hear the Beatles are coming to California — if they can get past the fruit inspectors. Their record sounds like Yma Sumac and Jerry Colonna on a barbecue spit — or a direct hit on a guitar factory."

Steve Parker came directly from Tokyo and checked into Twentieth Century-Fox to produce the next Shirley MacLaine picture. He didn't detour by way of Africa, where Shirley is visiting Bob Mitchum, who's there doing "Mr. Moses." Bob's wife, Dorothy, went to Africa, too, but not on safari. Amanda Blake's the only B-girl in history that never gives up. She's been after Jim Arness on Gunsmoke for almost ten years. Once a week she says to him, "Be careful, Matt." Well, he's so darned careful she'll never reach the altar. Shirley Booth was gifted with a T-Bird for services rendered in Hazel. Now she's trying to figure out whether to break it in driving herself to Florida or Acapulco.

Rubens Sketch Is Stolen From Museum

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—A sketch by the 17th century Flemish painter Peter Paul Rubens has been stolen from the Brussels Museum of Ancient Art.

Police said the thief entered the museum through the roof and left the same way. He abandoned the frame of the sketch, a Negro's head, on the roof.

Museum officials declined to give an estimate of the value of the sketch.

Willy Brandt Becomes Chairman of Party

BAD GODESBERG, Germany (AP)—West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, guiding force of West Germany's opposition Socialists, took over official leadership Sunday after the party elected him chairman.

A special party convention named Brandt, 50, without opposition to succeed Erich Ollenhauer who died last December.

The chairmanship gives a stronger policy role to Brandt who will be Christian Democrat Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's chief opponent in the 1965 elections.

900 Candidates Called for Ruby Trial in Dallas

By RELMAN MORIN
DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby goes to trial in Dallas today, accused of "murder with malice" in a strange case overshadowed by the unanswered questions in the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

An unprecedented panel of 900 jury candidates—nearly double the normal number—has been called in order to qualify 12 as unprejudiced.

Ruby, 52, a pale, pudgy night club operator, shot Lee Harvey Oswald, a self-styled Marxist, two days after the president was killed in Dallas and Oswald was charged with murdering him.

The trial is starting in a courtroom directly across the street from the building where the assassin lurked and then fired at Kennedy.

Defense lawyers indicate that they will try to go into the circumstances of the president's murder, as an integral part of the case for Ruby.

Dallas County Dist. Atty. Henry M. Wade says Oswald's guilt or innocence is immaterial in Ruby's trial.

The key phrase in the indictment of Ruby says he "did then and there with malice aforethought kill Lee Harvey Oswald by shooting him with a gun."

This is equivalent to a charge of murder in the first degree in other states. It carries a maximum penalty of execution in the electric chair. The minimum is two years in prison.

Wade says he will demand the death penalty. In 25 murder trials, Wade has obtained 24 convictions.

Ruby's trial, it appears now, will develop into a battle of psychiatrists.

His defense will pivot on a claim of temporary insanity, the assertion that he became unbalanced with grief by the death of the president.

His chief defense counsel, Melvon Mouron Belli of San Francisco, said: "The most important aspect of it (the trial) will be the psychiatric testimony. Everyone saw Ruby shoot Oswald" (a reference to the fact that television and news cameras recorded the shooting scene) "but no one saw into this man's mind."

Belli, in an informal talk with reporters Sunday night, spoke of "psychomotor epilepsy," "psychic shock" and "trauma." He pictured Ruby as a victim of psychomotor epilepsy, subject to blackouts, which can be touched off by rage, shock, or a powerful emotion.

He said he did not know whether he would put Ruby on the witness stand, but he said: "If he's on the stand a long time, you'll see a definite dysfunction. This guy, if you keep him there, on the stand or in jail much longer, you won't have to take him any place to show he's wacky."

Ruby Trial 2
Belli said "we have been reading cases all afternoon" about people who blacked out. "Was such a person rational during that time?"

The state contends that Ruby was completely sane when he shot Oswald. Police Capt. Will Fritz and officer James R. Leavell—who was handcuffed to Oswald when Ruby shot him—have testified that Ruby looked calm at that moment. Ruby shot Oswald at close range with a snub-nosed, 38-caliber pistol last Nov. 24.

Two unusual elements hang darkly over this case.

One is the speculation Kennedy's death was the result of a monstrous conspiracy, and that Ruby killed Oswald to "keep him from talking." No evidence has appeared to support this. On the contrary, in a series of ghost-written articles under Ruby's name, the accused man said: "No one knew I was going to shoot Oswald—not even me. No one helped me or gave me access. I didn't do it intentionally. I didn't even know I had done it."

The other is Belli's contention that Dallas is so saturated with prejudice and feelings of guilt that Ruby cannot get a fair trial here. He says people in Dallas want a sacrifice to purge the name of the city.

GRAVE PROBLEM
PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — Municipal officials in Pretoria have a grave problem on their hands—how to keep young lovers out of the city's cemeteries at night. An official reports that cemeteries seem to be increasing in popularity as courting places these days, and several times couples have been locked in the graveyards after closing time. They have either had to spend the night there, or climb fences to get out.

Boiling Asian Pot May Scald American Policy

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
The simmering Asian pot is coming to a boil, and U.S. policy is in danger of a scalding.

American policy difficulties in Asia are mounting. Now that President Charles de Gaulle of France has recognized Red China, a competitive stampede for a promising future market may one day leave Washington out on a long limb.

In Western Europe people are examining such questions as these:

—Can the United States hope to prevent Red China from bursting out of its isolation when there is an obvious itch to get in on the ground floor of China's potential market?

—Will the United States, instead, find itself isolated in its effort to sustain the Nationalist Chinese on Formosa as the only legal government of China?

—Will the United States get hopelessly bogged down in Viet Nam in a war which seemingly cannot be won by present methods? Would a vastly increased U.S. military effort against the Communists raise a threat of an Asian conflagration? If the United States does not step up its effort, can it avoid eventually having the South Viet Nam question reach a conference table?

There is eagerness in sectors of West Germany and Japan to follow De Gaulle's lead on Red China. If they do, the American thumb will just about have been pushed out of the dice.

The Japanese traders want to be in there before eWest Europeans sew up its potential.

West Germany already is opening trade missions in Communist European nations, and German businessmen say China is a traditional German market in which they have as much right as businessmen of any NATO nation.

De Gaulle's recognition of Red China has provided both excuse and impulse for other nations to climb on the bandwagon. West Europeans argue that as nation after nation falls into line, the United States more and more faces the prospect of having Nationalist China become an empty shell.

In Communist North Viet Nam, its regime more or less the creature of Peking, there has been a sudden rash of propaganda favoring the De Gaulle idea of neutralization. But this means neutralization for South Viet Nam. The Communists intend to keep what they have.

The Hanoi Communists appear to be happy about the picture of a U.S. dilemma and are saying that Washington must make up its mind whether to withdraw its military aid from South Viet Nam or step up the war, bringing it to North Viet Nam territory.

It adds that if the United States decides upon the latter, "they would have to cope not only with North Viet Nam, but also with China or eventually the whole Socialist (Communist) camp as a whole."

This line poses the threat of all Asia embroiled in war because of Viet Nam, and even the possibility of global conflict. Much of Southeast Asia already is nervous enough to mind its manners toward Red China and the banks for cooperatives will be identified by a metallic gold oval.

The overall emblem of the entire Farm Credit System also will be identified by an oval. The pillars of its illustration represent the three banking groups, the roof signifies the uniting service objectives, and the solid foundation symbolizes the strong financial base of the system. The oval of this emblem is enclosed by the words, "Farm Credit Service."

"Up to the present," said Brush, "all banks and associations of the system have used a variety of emblems. As a result there was little indication that our institutions are related and have closely correlated purposes, objectives, and goals. Actually, this close relationship is the source of much of our strength."

The Colorado Springs PCA was established in 1934. Today, it has 421 members and has $8,827,098.32 in loans outstanding. Area farmers borrowed $14.3 million from the association in 1963.

Funds loaned are obtained from the Federal intermediate credit banks who sell debentures on the public market. There are no appropriate Federal funds loaned by the system, nor does the Government guarantee the debentures, either as to principal or interest rate.

Interest paid on various forms of borrowing is charged as an expense before taxes. And since

AT&T also raised the dividend rate from 90 cents a quarter to $1. Its total outlay for dividends will rise by 40 cents a year on both old and new stocks as long as the rate is maintained. The directors obviously feel money raised by the sale of new shares can be used to expand facilities that will easily justify the extra payment.

But this dividend obligation, even if only implied, often deters corporations from offering new stock instead of raising money other ways.

These include borrowing from banks, issuing bonds, debentures, or convertible debentures—bonds which can be changed into common stock—or issuing IOUs in the short-term money market.

Interest paid on various forms of borrowing is charged as an expense before taxes. And since

AT&T, on the other hand, is under no obligation to repay the $100 to a stockowner who buys one of the new shares. Except for the dividends and the spreading of assets over more outstanding shares, the big new financing is like money found.

The phone company has used many ways of financing its huge growth. Its last offering of common stock was some 11 million shares in February 1961 at $15 a share, at the same ratio of one for each 20 already held.

It also has borrowed through debentures, both straight and convertible, and has tapped the market for short-term loans.

It all depended on the state of the money market at the time—and the state of the stock market.

In today's bull market, with popular stock average indexes hitting record highs, sale of more common stock couldn't help but look attractive — to a company whose stocks are in demand at well over the 100 mark.

PCA Adopts New Corporate Identification

The Colorado Springs Production Credit Association will adopt a new corporate identification emblem on March 1, according to an announcement today by Zenas R. Brush, manager.

On the same day, other organizations of the Farm Credit System — Federal land banks and Federal land bank associations — also will put the corporate identification program into effect. Farmers and their cooperatives borrow $5.6 billion a year through the system.

The new Production Credit Association emblem is a brilliant red oval . . . one of a family of brightly colored ovals that will identify each of the three organizations. The Federal land bank associations emblem is a deep blue oval, and the banks for cooperatives will be identified by a metallic gold oval.

FHS held "Parents Night" Wednesday. The parents of the students could attend any of the various departments of education offered at FHS. Several of these departments had students demonstrating or explaining the daily functions and opportunities offered in the classroom.

The English department was represented by Carlyle Nerdahl, Sylvia Erickson — English; Diane Kraus — Journalism; Kevin Nunn, Mike Francis, Linda Cline — French I. The music department offered the talents of the dance band, directed by Francis DeMarco and the girl's ensemble, directed by William Beatty.

A panel discussion was featured in the social science department. Scott McCabe, Linda Laughlin, Jim Wise, Jim Hughes, and Terry Kent acted as panelists.

Fred Wenk, Ricky Burke, and James Cook represented the physical education department. Girls p.e. was represented by Barbara Kaiser and Lynn Russ. The industrial arts and drafting classes had students working on their various projects. The home economics department explained several exhibits.

Refreshments were served following the sessions. A National Narcotics Assembly was held Tuesday. Clegg, from the Narcotics Bureau, informed the student body on the ill effects resulting from the use of narcotics.

Two films, concerning addiction, "Alcohol is Dynamite" and "Drug Addiction" were shown. Jerome Stratton, senior English teacher, and a group of movie "Henry V" as a field trip project.

The senior English classes have just recently finished studying the works of Shakespeare. This being Shakespeare's quadrennial also promoted the field trip.

Those participating in the field trip were Sylvia Erickson, Gary Sloan, Reul San Pedro, Sharon Skidmore, Laura Nugent, Scott McCabe, Kay Rutledge, Fred Romero, Mark Pevoteaux, Dick King, Cindy Farr, Diane Kraus, Earl Hanson, Ginny Leonard, Barbara Cumbie, Dave Mullett, classes are studying income tax.

The American Government The students are learning and putting into practice every phase of income tax. The course will run for three weeks. It is being taught by Mr. Van Adams and Mrs. Florence Waltman.

Rehearsals for the senior play began Monday. The play, "Come To Dinner", will be presented March 20.

It is the story of Eleanor Blaine, the mother of a grown daughter, who refuses to grow up herself. She is as giddy as a school girl, as slap-happy as a groggy prize fighter, and as sensible as last year's hat.

Bill, her husband, has skyrocketed into the money as a Ketchup King, and Eleanor, with muddled social ambitions, becomes more scatterbrained than ever. Each summer she takes a vacation and each fall she brings home a new protégé for her daughter Roxana's social benefit. They have been varied — first it was a long-haired poet from Greenwich Village — an artist from Cape Cod and then an interior decorator. But when she gives a dinner party for her latest attachment (a fugitive from a summer theatre) it is just too much for Bill.

He delivers an ultimatum declaring that he will move out if the actor moves in. But fate is unkind to Bill, for Clark Greene, the actor, brings along Desda Douville, an ex-chorus girl with whom Bill has been unhappily and innocently involved. When she greets Bill by the pet name of Killey Willie, Eleanor pounces upon it and Bill's threat to move out becomes nothing but an impotent declaration.

Eleanor continues to rule the roost until her social rival, Jennie Baldwin, throws a bombshell into her midst. Bill takes advantage of the situation to put his house in order and prevents his marriage from heading toward the divorce court.

The Student Council met Wednesday. The Council chose Mark Noble as outstanding Trojan of the week. Mark is FHS's wrestling representative to the state tournament in Denver.

The Sock and Buskin club met Wednesday. Various committees were formulated to begin work on the Senior Class Play. Ginnie Leonard is chairman of the publicity committee. Acting members of the committee are Nikki Moore, Sylvia Erickson, Cindy Farr, Carolyn Glaze, Alberta Edgar, Kay Rutledge, and Jan Malone.

Kay Rutledge heads the make-up committee and members are Alberta Edgar, Ginny Leonard, Nikki Moore, Kathy Ward, and Cindy Farr.

Nikki Moore is chairman of the program committee. Laura Nugent, Carolyn Glaze, Alberta Edgar, and Kathy Ward will act as members. FHS welcomed a new student the week of Feb. 10. He is John Bingham, a junior.

Love Again
Fails to Get Park Support

DENVER (AP)—A proposal to collect fees from users of state parks got no action at the concluding session of the Governor's Third Annual Conference on Parks and Recreation.

Instead, several of those present proposed other ways of obtaining money for the system.

The suggestion of annual fees, advanced earlier this year by the State Game, Fish and Parks Commission, was renewed by Gov. John A. Love at the conference Thursday despite the fact the State Senate condemned it in a resolution last month.

One of the alternative methods suggested for raising money came from Fred M. Guirey, chairman of the Park and Recreation Board of Maricopa County, Ariz.

Guirey remarked that such sources as gasoline taxes can provide the needed funds.

Dr. Robert L. Stearns, former president of the University of Colorado, who summarized ideas advanced at the conference, said a bond issue or a direct appropriation from the legislature also could serve the purpose.

Charles E. Shumate, chief engineer for the State Highway Department, said if roadside littering could be reduced, the state could use for parks some of the $190,000 a year now spent on cleaning up highways.

Love's suggestion for fees drew a sharp reply Friday from Robert Maytag, Democratic state chairman.

In a statement issued from party headquarters here, Maytag said:

"We Democrats feel that the present park system is not worth an admission charge and that all people should be encouraged to make use of these facilities, not discouraged."

Thatcher Will Head Aerospace Briefing Team

LT. Gen. Gerbert B. Thatcher, Commander, Air Defense Command, will head the briefing team scheduled to put on a special aerospace defense presentation late in February at the Armed Forces Staff College at Norfolk, Va.

Gen. Thatcher, the Command Briefing Team, and the ADC indoor exhibit will be at the Staff College during the Air Force Week observance scheduled from Feb. 25 through Mar. 2.

Air Force Week is held twice each year at the Armed Forces Staff College to give all students the basic understanding of the Air Force role.

The students, made up of Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps officers, are briefed on the organizational and operation concepts of each of the Air Force major commands throughout the week.

Gen. Thatcher will open the morning session of Air Defense Command Day scheduled for Feb. 27. He will be followed by the briefing team which will make presentations on the current and future aerospace defense mission.

Col. John W. Bennett heads the briefing team, which is made up of representatives from DCS - Plans and DCS - Operations. Other members are Lt. Colonels Hugh J. Martin, Raymond S. Westerman and Major Thomas G. Ferrara.

The Aerospace Defense Indoor Exhibit will be on display throughout the week. The exhibit tells the story of Air Defense Command's vast aerospace defense mission through the use of a six minute motion picture, color transparencies, and color photographs.

The "Shield of Freedom," a 28 minute film on the mission of Air Defense Command — the U.S. Air Force component of the joint U.S. - Canadian North American Air Defense Command, will also be shown throughout the week.

Chess Exhibition Slated at CC Rastall Center

International chess grandmaster Sammy Reshevsky will play all comers in a simultaneous chess exhibition at 7:30 p.m. today in Rastall Center on the Colorado College campus.

The exhibition, sponsored by the Colorado College Chess Club and The Colorado Springs Chess Club, will be open to spectators without charge.

A fee will be charged of those who choose to play Reshevsky in the exhibition. Contestants are advised to bring chess board and chess pieces.

Reshevsky, who won the United States chess championship five times, never has lost a match to another grandmaster. Last year he tied Bobby Fisher, the current U.S. champion, in a match held in Los Angeles.

Reshevsky was born in Poland and played his first match at the age of five. He came to the United States three years later and toured the country, playing simultaneous exhibitions. He received his bachelor's degree from Chicago University in 1931, and has devoted full time to playing chess since graduation. He has been the leading representative of the U.S. in international tournaments during the past 30 years.

More than 35 opponents are expected to play Reshevsky in the simultaneous match and each of them will have a time advantage in studying their moves. Reshevsky moves from board to board making his moves instantly and almost instinctively. He rarely loses a match and seldom is anyone able to draw him. Last year one of the two men who was able to draw Reshevsky in a simultaneous match played at the Broadmoor Hotel was Juan Reid, dean of men at Colorado College.

Boys Caught Prowling Cars Sunday

Two teen-age boys were caught prowling cars on St. Elmo Street Sunday, the sheriff's department reported.

According to Deputy Sheriff Ray Carey, Ken Trapp, 505 E. St. Elmo St. caught the youngsters. One had taken a flashlight from his car and the other had tried to take the hubcaps off another vehicle.

The parents of the boys were informed and the matter will be handled by the juvenile department.

WASHINGTON — Special to Gazette Telegraph — The persistent "trial balloon" stories concerning the merger of the National Guard and the Air Force Reserve into one Federal Reserve is again in the "air" here with considerable "hot reaction" for and against the proposal.

In the Truman Administration several efforts were made to merge the Army National Guard and Army Reserve into one Federal Reserve without success. The states are not going to give up the National Guard under any consideration say reliable Washington sources.

This time, the supporters of the single Air Reserve are making a new approach. They would like to see the Guard and Air Reserve leaders themselves look into the proposal without the Pentagon coming into it at this time. The mid-January meeting of the Air Section 5 Committee held to the opinion that the proposal should at least get an airing.

The Comptroller General has ruled that Service members may ship household appliances at Government expense even though such is purchased after the effective date of the travel orders. There is no change in maximum weight allowances based on rank.

Effective April 1, Brig. Gen. Randolph C. Dickens will leave CONARC at Ft. Monroe for duty with the First Division at Ft. Riley.

The title of Chief Signal Officer of the Army has been changed to that of Chief of Communications — Electronics. The last Chief Signal Officer will be Maj. Gen. David P. Gibbs whose father Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs was the Chief Signal Officer from 1923 to 1931. So far as is known this is the only father and son team that has served as chief of a service or arm of the Army.

All of the services have urged retired personnel to keep the appropriate office of their service — finance and personnel — informed of any change in their mailing addresses.

Army troops without dependents ordered to Korea will serve 13 months and not 9 months as has been rumored. At the same time the Pentagon official statement noted that two Army divisions will be maintained in Korea.

Plans for a senior noncommissioned officer's college for the Army have been shelved for the immediate. Elimination or postponement is due to current requirements for the noncommissioned officers and the budget.

Pentagon sources say that the Support Command of the 7th Army in Europe will be discontinued with the effective date set for February 15 with the functions of the Command being absorbed by 7th Army Headquarters. The action means that the theatre commander Gen. Paul Freeman may re-organize his support operations as he sees fit. On the other hand 8th Army and the Army in Alaska are creating Support Commands organized along functional lines.

Newly installed Army Secretary Stephen Ailes is the latest of the Pentagon civilian chiefs to come out in favor of a more intelligently planned military pay system.

The Pentagon has requested authority and funds of Congress to build houses for generals and admirals. The present construction costs "ceiling" on quarters for the "stars" and "flags" is $22,000. Defense would like to be able to raise this to $26,000.

The Navy to join the Armed Forces Information School as an operating partner under the new policy of mergers of Defense. The school will remain at Ft. Slocum for the present. Previously the Army had planned to transfer the school to Ft. Benjamin Harrison in 1966. The understanding here is that the facilities of the New York post are more "tailored" to the school requirements.

Polio Is Long Gone for 72,000 Area Residents

Some 72,000 Pikes Peak Region residents can never have polio and cannot transmit polio to others. They have had three doses of Sabin oral vaccine.

To provide this assurance for those who missed the opportunity Sunday to receive Type Three serum a "mop-up" clinic will be held next Sunday from 11:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. in the Palmer High School gymnasium.

The massive inoculation program, which provided all residents of El Paso and Teller counties with an opportunity to receive three types of Sabin oral vaccine for 25 cents a dose, or free of charge, ran smoothly from the beginning.

However, Sunday was probably the best organized of the three. At the Central Headquarters in the Naval Reserve Armory, the main activity was a pinocchio game between members of the public health committee of the El Paso County Medical Society and others who served on the K-O Polio committee. This contrasted sharply with the prior two Sundays when phones rang constantly and drivers raced from clinic to clinic with additional supplies.

"When we began planning in September we didn't know what to expect. We didn't know if we should prepare for 20,000 or 120,000," Dr. William Stone, chairman said. "Also there is no way to estimate accurately, the committee believes that between 60 and 70 per cent of the population are now vaccinated with Sabin serum. The three military installations have been administering the vaccine for some time and many new residents received the serum in public programs such as the local K-O Polio program before coming here."

"To assure a permanently polio-free community, parents must have their babies vaccinated as soon as their doctor advises it," Dr. Stone concluded.

On the eve of his retirement from active service, the Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Curtis LeMay is on the "war path" with the Secretary of Defense in the Congressional debate on the value of the long-range missiles in contrast to our bombers. Secretary McNamara favors the missiles and dropping of the bombers whereas General LeMay, a "bomber man," favors development of the bomber or at least for the foreseeable future.

General LeMay is not expected to get an extension of one year as chief of staff. The Pentagon is buzzing on rumors that either generals J. P. McConnell or B. A. Schriever would be his successor. If Secretary McNamara "wins" chances favor the selection of Schriever. At the same time a new chief of staff is announced there will also be a new vice chief of staff announced. A third four-star vacancy comes up with the retirement of Gen. Thomas S. Power SAC commander.

Carson Infantry To Complete Mechanization

Full mechanization of the 5th Infantry Division at Ft. Carson will be completed by June 25, it was announced today by Maj. Gen. John A. Heintges, commanding general.

Gen. Heintges said the 2d Battalion, 10th Infantry Regiment; 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry Regiment; 2d Battalion, 11th Infantry; 5th Battalion, 4th Artillery and 1st Battalion, 19th Artillery will be the first Red Diamond Division units to receive mechanized equipment. The vehicles will be the M113 armored personnel carrier for the infantrymen and the M108 self-propelled howitzer for the artillerymen.

Because of equipment shortages, the 5th was reactivated along straight infantry division lines pending the arrival of the necessary mechanized equipment.

The significant aspect of the change from the current posture, according to Col. H. V. Middleworth, chief of staff, is the marked increase in tracked vehicles, especially M113s, which will be arriving for the division.

The self-propelled artillery pieces will replace the towed howitzers of the 4th and 19th Artillery.

The Infantry will receive sufficient APCs to make the battalions completely mobile.

Other elements of the division will receive the new equipment on a phased basis.

The change to mechanized posture will not materially affect the number of personnel authorized to the division or the dismounted training phases. Mechanization allows increased speed and rapid dispersal.

Cost to Ft. Carson to mechanize the 5th Division is estimated at $1,400,000.

CU Pianist To Give Free Recital

Paul Parmelee, University of Colorado pianist and teacher, will give a free, public recital at 8 p.m. Friday, in the Music Hall of the College of Music.

His program will include Beethoven's "Sonata in C minor, Opus 111," Schumann's "Fantaisie, Opus 12" and the premier performance of "Night Music I for Four Performers," by George H. Crumb, who also is on the CU music faculty.

The Crumb work consists of five nocturnes and uses piano, celeste, voice and percussion. Appearing with Parmelee will be Louise Toth, soprano, and Tom MacCluskey and David Brube, percussionists. Mrs. Toth is the wife of Andor Toth, conductor of the CU Symphony; MacCluskey is a graduate student from Denver, and Brube is an assistant professor and a pianist.

Parmelee, an associate professor, has been at CU since 1947. He holds a bachelor's degree of music and a performer's certificate from the Eastman School of Music at the University of Rochester, a master's degree from CU and a doctor of music from Florida State University.

Parmelee has appeared in recital and as soloist with leading orchestras throughout the United States, the Philippines and Mexico.

SENIOR SEMINAR—The topic will be health at the first Senior Seminar Wednesday from 3 to 4:15 p.m., in the Little Theater of the City Auditorium. Dr. Dwight Dawson, left and Dr. George Lindeman discuss their part in the opening session of the weekly series of five panel discussions on the problems and prospects for retired persons. The El Paso County Medical Society will present three of the sessions on health topics.

Weekly Series Senior Seminars Start Wednesday

Persons in or near the retirement age are invited to a weekly series of Senior Seminars beginning this Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. in the Little Theater of the City Auditorium.

The series is under the direction of the Senior Coordinating Council. The first, third and fifth sessions will be presented by members of the El Paso County Medical Society on various health topics.

The opening session will cover the field of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). A panel including Dr. George Lindeman, vascular surgeon, Dr. Dwight Dawson, general practitioner and Dr. Alan Rapp who specializes in internal medicine and cardiology will discuss the subject. Panel moderator will be Dr. John Hays.

A Earl Bryson, president of the Senior Coordinating Council, announced that the series is free of charge and open to the public.

In addition to the health aspects of retirement the Seminars will include sessions on living within a reduced retirement income and learning to put a lifetime experience to work in service to the community.

The latter session will be in the form of a report to the public on the findings of a luncheon series at the professional level which is being conducted each Monday noon during the same weeks the seminars are being held.

Heart Sunday Supported by Church Leaders

Religious leaders in Colorado Springs joined with national leaders of all principal religious faiths in calling on their possible observance of Feb. 23 as Heart Sunday.

Heart Sunday will climax the Heart Fund campaign being conducted throughout February here by the El Paso County Heart Unit. Local spiritual leaders are urging parishioners to welcome their neighbors who are serving as Heart Sunday volunteers receiving contributions to support the Heart Association's program.

Members of the local Unit stressed that heart and blood vessel diseases caused 54 per cent of the deaths in Colorado in 1962 and that over 120,000 persons in Colorado are disabled to some extent by Cardiovascular Disease.

Almost 50 per cent of every Heart Fund Dollar contributed goes to research. The balance is used for Educational and Community Service programs.

ADC Band Plays Martial Music In Azores

The sound of martial music echoes through a small fishing village in the Azores thanks to the generosity of the Air Force Academy Band.

Following a request by U.S. forces stationed at Lajes Field, Capt. Arnold Gabriel, band command — conductor, sent a gift of sheet music to the Portuguese Band of Porto Judeu, a small fishing village near the air base.

Miss Gladys Zabolka, Lajes Field dependent school principal presented the music to Francisco Ilharie de Rocha, Porto Judeu band leader.

Following the presentation, Miss Zabolka conducted a band rehearsal during which the American selections were played.

Moscow Has Many Parks; Swimming Is Favorite Sport

By C. D. BAXTRESSER

MOSCOW — The work week for the average Russian is 7 hours a day, 5½ days a week. This means that the citizens of Moscow must find some method of amusing themselves Saturday afternoon and Sunday.

Like any American city where a large percentage of the population (there it is nearly 100 per cent) lives in an apartment, the community must provide recreation of various types. Certainly Moscow has many things for its residents to do on Sundays and Sunday is really the day that comes alive.

During the summer, spring and fall, it is the desire of the Muscovites to leave the city Saturday afternoon for the country and there spend Saturday night and all day Sunday. This is done generally by means of public transportation.

Here again I am very impressed by the efficiency and the quantity of public transportation. It is possible to take an electric railroad from Moscow to Leningrad, a distance of some 600 miles, and electric railroads as well as some diesel run from Moscow in all directions. Saturday afternoon the railroad stations are very busy with the residents leaving for their weekend for the country.

If they choose to stay in the city for the weekend (and of course many do) there is a diversity of entertainment. This is being written in the summertime and it is obvious to even an unskilled observer that swimming is very popular here.

There are a number of places to swim. First of all you have the Moscow River which wanders thru Moscow for some 28 miles. Located spasmodically are swimming docks, usually made out of concrete, along the banks of the river which provide a place from which to swim as well as benches or chairs for sitting and watching. On Sundays these are very popular.

Quite a way up the Moscow River (but still within the city limits) is a very large recreational area I was there yesterday in a motor launch and I would estimate that it encompasses about three miles of the river.

It is a heavily wooded area but the banks gently slope to the river. At one point there is three-fourths of a mile of man-made beach. Here sand has been trucked in, cabanas installed, and there are rooms for changing clothes, as well as some soft drink concessions.

There are very few fish in the Moscow river downstream. This is primarily due to industrial waste emptying into the river. But upstream apparently there are enough fish to make fishing interesting. In my ride up the river yesterday, there were people fishing from the shore and from boats in the middle of the river. All along the river for the three-mile area there were picnickers and swimmers.

There are canoes, rowboats, and motorboats for rent. The Russians drive their motorboats very much as they do their taxis and I still shake my head in disbelief that no swimmers were maimed.

If swimming in the Moscow river, which is quite muddy, is not your cup of tea, there are several extremely large swimming pools in downtown Moscow. One is probably the largest swimming pool I will ever see. The center is an Olympic-size 15-lane pool. Surrounding it and using this pool as the hub is a circular pool.

Now imagine, if you will, a circular pool whose inside diameter is about 90 feet. The outside diameter is 30 feet from the inside circumference and so you have an outside diameter of 150 feet. This outside pool is used by the less athletic, unskilled swimmers. On Sunday this pool is absolutely jammed.

The pool is surrounded by a rather large park with an abundance of trees and flowers.

There is a race track in Moscow and it operates on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. I have not attended the races but plan to do so.

At Lenin Stadium there is usually an athletic contest of some type on Saturday and Sunday. At this time of the year it is the Russian version of football. Russian football is called soccer in the U.S. Again this is something I will see in the future.

There are in Moscow for the Soviet citizen on Sunday about 20 large parks. These parks cover many acres. Generally they consist of nothing more than benches, picnic tables, and lawns surrounded by trees, grass, planned flower gardens, etc. Walking and sitting in these parks in the sun is a favorite Sunday pastime.

In addition to the parks there are two zoos in Moscow. Both of them are quite modern and well stocked and cover a tremendous acreage. These are also well attended on Sundays.

Perhaps the biggest attraction on Sunday in Moscow is Gorka Park. Gorka Park is located less than one-fourth mile from my hotel and I have been there many times. Gorka Park runs along the Moscow river. From one end to the other, it is about one-and-one-half miles, and it is at least one-half mile wide. I have seen, nothing anywhere to compare with it in its variety and size.

Located within the park is a full recreation area very similar to Disneyland. There is a ferris wheel, loop-the-loop, electric cars, in fact all types of amusement rides with the exception of a roller coaster. The lack of a roller coaster, someone said, is because the steel that would be used to construct it is more valuable for other projects.

There is also a very large dance hall, catering mostly to the teenagers and young people. The music is quite modern, but there is no rock and roll and the twist is not danced. At this time Spanish dances, or should I say, Cuban dances and Cuban music are very popular. The music from the dance hall is relayed by loud-speaker to almost all areas of Gorka Park and it is incongruous to me to walk thru the park and hear loud speakers playing rumbas, tangos, and cha cha chas.

Taggart's Honored At Surprise Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. L. Merle Taggart, 28 Westgate St., were honored Sunday morning in a surprise ceremony at the Boulder Street United Presbyterian Church for their 20 years' service.

A scroll and a gift were presented to the couple by members of the church's Sunday School departments. The youngsters were Miss Jan Elftman, Miss Jan Mutschler, Miss Sharon Howard, Reggie Whigham, Babi Ree Sterrett and Mark Zorn.

Pastor of the United Presbyterian Church is the Rev. A. C. Hillegass.

County Mental Health Group to Meet Tuesday

The El Paso County Association for Mental Health, Inc., will hold its monthly meeting at noon Tuesday at Dott's Chicken Shack, 1930 S. Nevada Ave.

Two members of the Colorado State Mental Health Board will interpret "Budgetary Cuts and the Colorado Mental Health Program." They are Miss Bernice Kennedy and Victor B. Grundy. Reservations for the luncheon should be made at 633-5306. The dinner is $1.50.

Anthropologist To Lecture Tuesday at CC

Galen R. Baker, director of anthropology at Trinidad State Junior College, will talk about "Prehistoric Pueblos on the Plains" at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday in Perkins Hall at Colorado College.

The lecture, open to the public, is co-sponsored by Colorado College and the El Paso County Historical Society.

Baker, a native Coloradan and a member of the Koshare Indian Dancers of La Junta, will show slides during his lecture.

He began his career in anthropology in 1951 at the Koshare Indian Kiva Museum and Art Gallery. He subsequently has been assistant anthropologist at the Museum of Northern Arizona, and laboratory assistant at the Arizona State Museum.

In 1956, he was foremost of digging operations for the University of Colorado's field school at Mesa Verde National Park.

In recent years, Baker has been director of archaeology at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron, New Mexico and ranger-archaeologist at Tonto National Monument in Roosevelt, Ariz.

It Ain't Easy, But Someone Lost Pike's Plaque

It ain't easy, but it happened. Somehow, somehow, someone lost a 400-pound, 3-foot high, bronze plaque bearing the likeness of Gen. Zebulon Pike.

It was designed to finally get the discoverer of the Peak which bears his name up the mountain and give him a place to stay in all kinds of weather. But so far, not even the Historical Society of the Pikes Peak Region knows where the plaque is and the society would like to find it so that it can be placed where it was intended to go.

The plaque was designed and executed in 1956 by John Feller, Colorado Springs sculptor, on a commission from the Broadmoor. The plaque was turned over to the Manitou and Pikes Peak Cog Railway to be installed in the new Summit House on the Peak.

But, construction of the Summit House was delayed and the Plaque was laid aside. Now that the building is finally near completion, the Historical Society reaffirmed its resolution of 1956 that the plaque be placed in the Summit House.

The bronze plaque weighs 400 pounds, is 2 by 3 feet in size, and carries a bas-relief portrait of Pike with an inscription.

Man, Woman Injured in Two-Car Crash

A man and a woman were injured in a two-car collision at Pikes Peak Avenue and Union Boulevard Sunday night, police reported.

Walter Tommy Titus, 36, 1011 N. Weber St., was admitted to St. Francis Hospital with a large head cut, multiple bruises and abrasions. He was the driver of one of the cars.

A passenger in the other car, Rosemary Ann Hapke, 23, of 407 Winnipeg Dr., suffered abrasions on her right leg and was released at the scene.

She was riding in the car of Robert Eugene Hapke, 23, of the same address.

Police said the Titus car was headed east on Pikes Peak and the Hapke car was southbound on Union when the collision occurred. Titus, who was thrown out of his car in the accident, was ticketed for reckless driving and a signal light violation, according to police.

Elliott to Be Speaker At Engineers Meeting

Gordon Elliott, regional engineer for the American Institute of Steel Construction, will be guest speaker at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 26 at a meeting of the Colorado Springs Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the Valley-Hi Country Club.

Elliott, with the aid of slides, will discuss the new high-tensile steel and its uses. He is a graduate of the University of Dayton, Ohio, and an assistant bridge engineer for the state of Wyoming for the past 11 years. Reservations should be made by Feb. 25.

Colorado Risks Lead At Iowa State Tonight

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

Oklahoma State's sudden nose dive leaves Kansas State, the team with the winning overtime touch, and always-tough Colorado as the co-leaders in the surprise-filled Big Eight basketball title chase.

Iowa State's 50-48 overtime upset of Oklahoma State at Ames Saturday was the third in the last four games for the Cowboys, who appear to have lost something of their sharp edge during the semester break. The setback came on the heels of a 54-53 defeat by Nebraska at Lincoln and a 65-59 loss to Colorado at Stillwater.

Kansas State got its third consecutive overtime victory, 89-79, at Missouri behind Willie Murrell's 34 points. Colorado clipped Nebraska at Lincoln 60-52 with Jim Davis scoring 22. Kansas got a career high of 34 from George Unseld in an 84-72 victory over Oklahoma at Lawrence.

K-State has a 33-15 scoring average for its three five-minute extra sessions all on the road at Nebraska, Colorado and Missouri. Before that the Wildcats squeezed by Oklahoma and Kansas. They have a five-game league winning streak going and will be favored to make it six tonight against Nebraska at Manhattan.

Colorado meets upset-minded Iowa State at Ames. Kansas is at Missouri and Bradley at Oklahoma in other games.

Colorado and K-State now are tied with 6-2 won-lost records. OSU stands 5-3 Kansas 5-4 Nebraska 4-4, Iowa State 4-5, Missouri 3-5 and Oklahoma 1-9. K-State plays four of its last six at home, Colorado three of its last six at Boulder. Each has a home date with Oklahoma State left. The home-court advantage hasn't been worth much this season in the Big Eight, with the home club winning 19, losing 15.

Both of Colorado's defeats have been at Boulder and K-State took one of its two league setbacks in Manhattan.

Bob Ziegler was the star for Iowa State. His goal broke a 44-44 tie to start the overtime. Then he was fouled while shooting, a technical foul was called on OSU's Gene Johnson and Ziegler made all three free throws. He also added the final point with five seconds left.

Kansas got career highs from both of its backliners, Del Lewis with 18 and Dave Schichtel with 12. Fred Fleetwood's 18 led Oklahoma.

Ray Carey's 29 and Bob Price's 22, 18 of them the last half, led Missouri's comeback surge which nearly pulled it out. It was K-State's 21st straight over Missouri since 1956.

Adams State, Western Set For RMC Weekend Clash

By United Press International

A battle for king of the hills shapes up this weekend in all-around as Rocky Mountain Conference leader Adams State hosts runnerup Colorado State College in a pair of games that could settle the conference basketball championship.

Adams State has not lost a conference game this season and is heavily favored to run its string to 10 Friday and Saturday at the expense of the visiting Bears. Such a showing would put the Indians out of reach this season.

CSC, however, is not completely discounted as a dark-horse. The Bears have lost only one of their eight conference games this season.

Only one other RMC Friday-Saturday series is set this week. Colorado Mines hosts Western State in the two-game clash which could decide the conference third and fourth place finishers.

Last place already has been decided—and is undisputed Colorado College, with its 1-11 record in conference play, gets a rest this weekend.

ing RMC mince meat out of the vulnerable Tigers Friday and Saturday, ambushing them in Gunnison 80-54 and 66-43.

Adams State's weekend wins came at the expense of Mines Friday and Saturday in Golden. The Orediggers fell to the conference powerhouse, 57-43 and 66-59.

CSC traveled to Denver Saturday night and found Regis' Roger Harris too much. Harris potted 23 points in leading the independent Raiders to a 73-57 win over the Greeley team.

Top Teams Waiting Berths In Major Cage Tournaments

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

A number of college basketball coaches and athletic directors are sitting nervously beside telephones today. For some of them, it will ring once. For some twice. For some not at all.

They're waiting for the word from the National Invitation Tournament and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which start picking the fields for their tournaments, the two major post-season attractions.

Fifteen of the 25 berths in the NCAA tournament are reserved for conference champions, but the other 10 go to at-large teams. The NCAA started bidding for those 10 teams today, one hour before the NIT can put in its bids for the 12 teams that make up the field for the Madison Square Garden attraction.

Three highly successful independents, Villanova, DePaul, and Oregon State, are virtually assured of bids to each. In such a case the school can make its own choice.

Villanova, with victories over Duquesne, 73-63, and Canisius, 73-58 last week is ranked eighth in the nation on a 19-2 record. There are indications it would prefer the NCAA spot if offered but would be one of the big attractions for the NIT.

Oregon State, No. 9 in the nation, pushed its record to 21-3 with a 76-72 decision over Seattle last week and DePaul, No. 10, is 16-2 after victories over Marquette, 72-69, and Western Ontario 98-58.

Temple is the first team to be assured of a tournament berth having wrapped up the Middle Atlantic championship and a spot as a conference boss in the NCAA.

UCLA, the No. 1 team in the nation and the only major unbeaten, is within one game of securing at least a tie for the Big Six championship, and another spot and seems assured of doing so. The Bruins rolled over Washington twice last week, 73-58 and 88-60, pushing their record to 21-0.

Michigan, No. 2 in the nation, leads the Big Ten at 8-1 and 17-2 over-all.

Kentucky is ranked third at 18-2, and shares the Southeastern Conference lead with Georgia Tech, each 8-2 in the league. No. 4 Davidson tops the Southern at 19-3 and 8-2; No. 5 Duke leads the Atlantic Coast at 17-3 and 10-0.

Vanderbilt lost twice over the week, 71-75 in overtime to Georgia Tech and 64-62 to Tennessee and dropped to a share of fourth in the SEC and appears in danger of losing its No. 7 national ranking.

Lobo Five Still Leads In Western

By DICK STUART

Associated Press Sports Writer

If New Mexico wants to remain atop the Western Athletic Conference basketball standings it must do better than Utah did on a trip to Arizona.

But should the Lobos stumble as the Utes did, Arizona State University could take the lead.

The Lobos grabbed first place Saturday by sinking 24 of 28 free throws for a 74-63 victory over Wyoming to top their record at 4-1. Utah, meanwhile, fell twice and is now tied with A-State in second place with a 3-2 mark.

The Utes crumbled before Arizona in their first major road test of the league season Friday 85-72. Then a late rally fell short, and they lost 71-66 Saturday to defending champion A-State (12-9).

The Sun Devils, who insist they will retain their league crown, also blitzed Brigham Young University 110-85 Friday and now have six straight victories.

Arizona (13-8) clobbered the Cougars 80-67 Saturday to climb into a third place tie with Wyoming. Both have 2-3 conference records.

New Mexico (17-3) visits A-State at Tempe Friday, and the biggest job its proud defense will have is stopping the Sun Devil threesome of Joe Caldwell, Art Becker and Dennis Dairman. Against BYU they netted 71 points, and against Utah 54.

And after A-State, the Lobos try Arizona at Tucson where the Wildcats are no easy touch. They too feature a strong defense, allowing foes just 60.9 points per game. New Mexico has permitted 54.9.

The Wildcats will warm up for the Lobos' Saturday visit against Wyoming (10-10) Friday. Saturday the Cowboys visit A-State.

The main thing going for the Lobos and Cowboys is the fact they've both defeated this weekend's foes. The biggest disadvantage will be the foreign floors. In 15 WAC games to date, the home team has won 13 times.

And if the Lobos lose a pair and A-State wins twice, the Sun Devils could vault into first place with a 5-2 mark. However, should New Mexico win twice, the race would just about be over.

Prep Runner Gerry Lindgren Nears World Mark in 2-Mile

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Little Gerry Lindgren, a squeaky-voiced high school distance running sensation, may learn this week just how good his chances are to run in the 1964 Olympics.

The 115-pounder from Spokane, Wash., who posts evermore-incredible times in each race he runs, will try for the National AAU indoor three-mile title Saturday night in New York.

"I sure don't know what I can do," said Gerry last Saturday night after he ran 8:40.0 for two miles at the Golden Gate Invitational.

What he has done so far is run two miles nearly 30 seconds faster than any high schooler in history, approach within 10.4 seconds of world standards and lose only grudgingly in two races against pending world record holders.

Gerry, who is only 17, is aiming for a 5,000-meter berth in the Olympics—the two-mile is not a Games event.

Gerry admitted that after-effects of a cold and a week of penicillin shots bothered him at the Golden Gate race, which he started "hoping maybe I could run 8:46 again." That's what he clocked in January when he lost narrowly to Gaston Roelants of Belgium, pending world record holder in the steeplechase.

Here Saturday he was beaten by the fine final-lap kick of Australian Ron Clarke, who holds world bests at six miles and 10,000 meters.

Otherwise the meet was only ordinary. Jim Beatty made his 1964 debut but sagged to a 4:13.4 mile, losing indoors for the first time in four years. NCAA champ Morgan Groth from Oregon State won in 4:07.9.

There were two other major weekend indoor meets, the Dallas Invitational and the Mason-Dixon Games in Louisville, highlighted by the performances of Randy Matson and Villanova's two-mile relay team.

Matson, a 6-foot-6 Texas A&M freshman, got off a toss of 62 feet-5 in winning the shot at Dallas for one of the top indoor heaves on record.

Villanova, anchored by Noel Carroll, lowered its own two-mile relay record to 7:24.9 at Louisville. Carroll ran a brilliant 1:48.8 anchor leg.

Bob Hayes, Florida A&M, equalled his own indoor mark of 6.9 in the 70-yard dash; Wyoming Tyus of Tennessee State set a women's record of 7.5 in the 70-yard dash and Tammy Davis took the 70-yard hurdles in a record 9.1 in the Mason-Dixon meet.

Vancouver Knocks Off Invaders

By United Press International

The Vancouver Canucks climbed back into the Western Hockey League play-off picture the hard way. They knocked off league-leading Denver Sunday.

The Canucks' solid 7-3 victory combined with Seattle's 6-3 decision over San Francisco to turn the battle for playoff spots into a real dogfight.

Denver, the only team with more wins than losses, has a 24 point lead. But then the fun begins.

Seattle has 34 points, Los Angeles 52, Portland 51, San Francisco 50 and Vancouver 49. Three of those five teams will make the playoffs—two will not.

Vancouver's win was its fifth in a row. Four third-period goals turned the tide, with veteran Phil Maloney staying high in the scoring race by scoring two and assisting in another.

At Seattle, Bill MacFarland scored the hat trick and tacked on an assist as Seattle built up a 3-0 cushion after one period and a 1-1 cushion after two stanzas.

Former Champs Slated Tonight In Golden Gloves

DENVER (UPI)—Four defending Class A Golden Gloves champions highlight a 17-bout performance tonight in the wind-up of the week-long Denver slugging tournament.

The four champions, fighting for another trip to the Tournament of Champions in Louisville, Ky., all are expected to meet stiff competition tonight in the featured bouts.

Heavyweight champion Del Herrera of Kenmark Jewelers, Denver, tangles with Rudolph Tompkins of Lowry Air Force Base, Denver, in a bout that is expected to produce more than a few bruises.

Light-heavyweight Otway Shans of Denver's Johnny Harper Club meets staminate challenger Jimmy Williams; twice Denver champion Gary Brown of Stan's Boxing Club, Orem, Utah, takes on Joe Hopkins of the Murray, Utah, Police Boys Club in a middleweight match; and featherweight Tony Gonzales of Kenmark Jewelers defends against another Kenmark fighter, Jerry Martine.

Big Week Ahead

Pirates Lose to Cards; Host Buffs Tuesday

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

DENVER—The St. Mary's Pirates, who have been in the habit of making early reservations for the State Parochial Basketball Tournament in past seasons, are looking increasingly more like a last minute entry this winter.

Sunday afternoon there was even some suggestion that the Bucs may gain admission only by ticket. As Annunciation sent the Pirates crashing to their third defeat in the last four games, 66-56, the middle of the DPL standings grew tighter, indicating that the battle for three of the conference's five tournament berths may continue to wage until regular season action concludes March 1.

There is no concern about two of the entries. Regis and Holy Family are tied for the lead with 13-1 marks, some 5½ games ahead of the third place Pirates. Sunday Regis slipped past Cathedral 52-48 and Holy Family trounced St. Joseph's 60-41 to set up a decisive meeting between those two clubs Friday night.

From there on down, however, the 10 team circuit resembles a patchwork quilt. St. Mary's and Mt. Carmel are currently tied for third with 7-6 marks but there are four more ambitious clubs right behind.

The coming week could be decisive for the Colorado Springs team. Dan Wright's quintet is scheduled to open a three-game stand Tuesday night at the St. Mary's Gymnasium against Macbeuf. Fans interested in attending had best scan the horizon for threatening clouds before making plans, however. The Buffs are the league's most sensitive team when it comes to snowflakes. Friday night's dash of weather prompted Macbeuf's third postponement of a scheduled contest with St. Mary's in the past two years.

Friday the Pirates travel to Denver to meet cellar-dwelling St. Joseph's and Sunday they return home to face St. Francis. A sweep of the three contests would virtually assure the local team of a return trip to the tournament.

Sunday, the Pirates could have used a snowstorm of their own — for nothing short of a postponement would have saved them from what the Cardinals had waiting. The Bucs' big men posted a narrow decision over the Annunciation front line in the backboard battle but the Pirates could never rope an elusive guard named Stan Gora, who fired bullseyes all afternoon.

Gora's 32 point performance was easily the decisive factor. He netted 10 of 18 shots from the field, most of them coming from far out court. Even more damaging was the fact that Gora spent enough time at the free throw line to require a lease. He was awarded 20 free throws and nearly fouled out the entire St. Mary's backcourt contingent in the process. Sam Zavatti did depart and Tom McCarthy, Joe Jezek, and Jerry Knaut all had one foot on the bench — with four apiece.

Most of the action during the afternoon was centered around Gora — basketball and otherwise. Several of the foul calls from which he benefited grew from incidents which had a remarkable resemblance to charging. Wright was of a similar opinion, but his heated explanation of this to an official near the conclusion of the contest went unrewarded. In fact, he

Liston Wants Single Weigh-in

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission is scheduled to decide tonight whether both Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay must appear simultaneously at the forenoon weigh-in or Feb. 25 for their title fight that night.

Commission Chairman Morris Klein called this special meeting because heavyweight champion Liston has been objecting torridly to meeting Clay anywhere before they climb into the ring at the Miami Beach Convention Hall.

The meeting was called also to consider challenger Clay's objections to the new safety rule providing that if either fighter be floored three times in one round, he automatically suffers a technical knockout.

Training Twist Added As Heuga Wins Slalom

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany (AP)—Bold, brazen Jimmy Heuga of Tahoe, Calif., has established himself as the crown prince of American skiing by adding a new twist to his training program.

Heuga, bronze medalist in the slalom at the Winter Olympics, whipped an international field that included the Innsbruck gold medalists and won the coveted combined trophy Sunday at the Kandahar meet, final blue ribbon Alpine event of the season.

The 20-year-old collegian admitted that he had trained hard. "I was in pretty good shape, after all that training," he said.

"All that training" was a twist party Friday night at which he and Starr Walton of Sacramento, Calif., proved themselves the twist champions of the international skiing set. Heuga then went out and proved his maneuverability again, this time on the ski slopes.

He rammed his lithe body down the giant slalom course, a 1 1/2-mile run dotted with 67 gates, in 3:02.53 Saturday for a second-place finish, then had enough twist left over to win the slalom event with two runs of 50.98 and 55.52 Sunday for a combined time of 1:46.50.

Heuga's climactic triumph followed a victory by Jean Sautbert of Lakeview, Ore., in the ladies' special slalom with a time of 1:08.97 and pulled American prestige up another notch following an Olympic showing in which the men's team won its first medals ever.

"Jimmy's show was just what we needed to confirm the new role of the United States in alpine skiing," said U.S. Coach Bob Beattie. "Now it is obvious that our 1963-64 record is not a product of coincidences—we have joined the ranks of the European ski powers and we'll stay there."

Beattie said the U.S. team is splitting up for races in Yugoslavia, Romania, Italy and Switzerland but will reassemble on March 3 before proceeding to Stowe, Vt., to start on a new training program.

"We have a good nucleus now. Jimmy, Billy Kidd and Jean have a great boost with their Olympic medals," said Beattie. "Around them we'll form a team for next season that will be hard to beat."

Kidd, of Stowe, and the remainder of the American entries were disqualified for gate faults. The list included Bud Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo.; Chuck Ferries of Houghton, Mich.; Rip McManis of Milford, Conn.; Bill Marolt of Aspen, Colo.; and Ni Orsi of Stockton, Calif.

Also eliminated, either by failing or missing gates, were Francois Borielle of France, Olympic giant slalom gold medalist, and Austria's Egon

Miss Dix Wins Race At Vail

VAIL, Colo. (AP)—A slalom course so difficult it forced five of the 10 girl entrants out of the race was apparently just right Sunday for Tammy Dix of Spokane, Wash., and Sun Valley, Idaho.

Miss Dix, a pretty 20-year-old won the slalom event of the Vail Trophy Alpine ski races by 3.9 seconds.

Added to her victory in the downhill Saturday, the feat gave her the combined title without a single International Ski Federation point on her record.

Such points count against skiers in international standings.

The five women who did not finish the slalom fell or were disqualified for missing gates.

Dennis McCoy, 18, of Mammoth Mountain, Calif., won the men's slalom by 2.9 seconds to take the men's combined title with 10.80 federation points. He tied for fifth in the downhill.

Nearly all the 48 men and 14 women who entered the races were of college age.

Miss Dix tried out for the nation's Olympic ski team last year but had to drop out before completion of the trials because of an injury.

Sunday's Results: Men's slalom—1. Dennis McCoy, Mammoth Mountain, Calif., 56.6, 52.1, 1:08.7; 2. Jerry Rinaldi, B. C., 56.9, 51.8, 1:08.7; 3. Sandy Linton, Colorado University, 56.5, 52.8, 1:09.3; 4. Baseball World Mourns Death of Ken Hubbs

By TOM BRADY Associated Press Writer PROVO, Utah, (AP)—Shock and deep sorrow were still felt today over the death of Chicago Cubs infielder Ken Hubbs, whose bright future was snuffed out forever in an airplane crash last week.

He was only 22, the National League's Rookie of the Year in 1962 when he set two major league fielding records at second base.

He was just getting started. "You don't have to worry about second base here for 10 years," he said with youthful confidence when he made the grade with the Cubs two years ago.

Last Thursday he took off from the airport at this central Utah community where his brother Keith had gone to school at Brigham Young University.

With him was Dennis Doyle, 23, an orphan who grew up in the Hubbs' home at Colton, Calif.

The wreckage of their plane, a single-engine Cessna 172 which Hubbs had bought a year ago, was found scattered in and around a 10-foot hole in the ice on Utah Lake, five miles west of Provo, Saturday.

Their bodies were recovered by skindivers in 15 feet of water under the ice Sunday.

Funeral services for Doyle are scheduled Tuesday in Provo where his wife's parents live.

Funeral services for Hubbs will be at Colton Thursday. His Chicago Cub teammates will act as pallbearers.

Hubbs' teammates on the Colton Little League championship team of 1954 will be honorary pallbearers.

Utah State Aeronautics Director Harlon Bement said the plane crashed, nose down at an angle of 70 or 80 degrees with the right wing hitting first.

Indicates that the plane had been in what he termed "a graveyard spiral" which can occur when a pilot loses sight of the horizons because of bad weather.

Hubbs got his pilot's license two weeks ago. He had logged 71 hours and 15 minutes flying time before this trip.

CUBS PLAYER FOUND DEAD—Ken Hubbs (left) second baseman for the Chicago Cubs, and Dennis Doyle, a friend, were found dead Saturday after a widespread search when reported missing in Hubbs' plane on a flight from Provo, Utah, to Colton, Calif. Hubbs, a licensed pilot for only two weeks, and Doyle left Provo on Thursday morning. (AP Wirephoto)

Black Hawks Topple Bruins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Chicago hockey fans, known to have wagered a penny or two on a National League contest involving their beloved Black Hawks, were betting even money Sunday night that goalies Ed Johnston and Glenn Hall would outlast referee Frank Udvari.

Chicago won the game 5-3 to keep a share of the NHL lead. The Hawks strafe Johnston with 47 shots and the Bruins peppered Hall with 39.

Peacemaker Edvardi, in fact, had a full scale vendetta on his hands. The referee handed out 26 penalties for 110 minutes—96 in the second period when the clubs brawled and beefed from start to finish.

Tom Johnson, Orland Kurtenbach and Ted Green of Boston swapped punches with Chicago's Elmer Vasko, Stan Mikita and Aut Erickson. All drew major penalties and Kurtenbach and Vasko were hit with 10-minute misconduct raps.

Kurtenbach ultimately was ejected for shoving an official.

The Chicago fireworks partially obscured Jean Beliveau's hat-trick at Detroit, where Montreal stopped the Red Wings' five-game winning streak 5-2.

Beliveau scored his 20th, 21st and 22nd second goals and assisted on Claude Provost's clincher Bobby Rousseau completed the Canadiens' scoring while Parker MacDonald connected twice on power plays for Detroit.

Montreal and Chicago are tied for the league lead, each with 69 points.

New York moved two points closer to the Wings in the race for fourth place by trimming Toronto 4-2.

Camille Henry's 25th goal proved decisive as the Rangers snapped a string of five straight reversals.

In Saturday night's games Detroit upended Montreal 4-1 and Toronto shut out Chicago 4-0.

Pro Football Bigwigs Testify Before Committee

By G. MILTON KELLY Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP)—Bigwigs of professional football testified today before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee on proposed legislation and the future of their sport.

With Pete Rozelle and Joe Foss, commissioners of the rival National and American Football Leagues scheduled to take the witness stand, senators disclosed in advance they might apply some fresh heat on an old problem.

Is the National League finally willing to agree to an annual World Series type playoff between the two leagues' champions?

The NFL has thus far rejected all AFL attempts to set up such a contest.

At main issue is a bill sponsored by the subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to spell out uniform antitrust law exemptions for professional baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The first really discordant note in the hearings is expected from the Baltimore Colts' big end, Ordell Brashear, who is to appear as a spokesman for the players.

Brashear, president of the National League Players Association, has declared in advance he wants more protection for players' rights in contract matters written into the measure.

Football management has shown no enthusiasm at all for such proposals.

Representatives of big league baseball testified Tuesday with the possibility of witness stand confrontation between Charles O. Finley, battling owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and American League President Joe Cronin.

Cronin and President Warren Giles of the National League have accepted invitations to testify. The subcommittee says Finley, however, has not even answered its invitations to state his side of a row over his efforts to move his American League Athletics to Louisville, Ky., Oakland, Calif., or some other point.

Finley denies sale of KC franchise

BOSTON (AP)—The American League lost the World Series, the All-Star Game and attendance last season. Now comes a Feb. 21 summit meeting when fellow owners decide whether to lose Charles O. Finley.

Time twice has run out on deadlines for Athletics' owner Finley to sign a lease with Kansas City officials.

So far, there's no agreement reached or action taken. Mid-night Saturday passed and Finley's adamant two-year or nothing lease stand appeared to stymie the AL as effectively as Sandy Koufax had the pennant-winning Yankees.

President Joe Cronin took the first step Sunday by announcing the Friday meeting to which Kansas City officials are invited.

Cronin hints the owners may be ready to carry out their threat to oust Finley, made at the last owners' meeting Jan. 16 when Finley's request to move the franchise to Louisville was killed 9-1.

Finley reaffirmed Sunday night he would be at the controls when Kansas City opens the season.

Since the previous owners' meeting, Finley has threatened a lawsuit if the league attempts to take away his franchise and retained famed trial lawyer Louis Nizer.

Finley, who also made a commitment to move his team to Oakland and may make the pro-

Bullets Retain NBA Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS And you think you've got troubles. Consider the case of one Charley Wolf, basketball coach.

A year ago Charley Wolf was coach of the Cincinnati Royals, who won their 11th straight National Basketball Association game Sunday. Today he is coach of the Detroit Pistons, who lost their 45th game of the season Sunday.

And if you think that's bad, remember that the Pistons must play 20 more games this season and that the club never has lost more than 46 games in a season. The potential is staggering.

Wolf's Pistons lost their second game inside of 20 hours to the Baltimore Bullets 111-99 Sunday while the Royals, who used to be Wolf's, came from behind to drop Philadelphia 114-97.

In a West Coast game, the Boston Celtics won their second straight 100-point game, edging the Los Angeles Lakers 92-90.

The Bullets kept their slim Western Division playoff hopes alive with their fourth straight victory and the 12th in the last 18 games. Walt Bellamy's 29 points and Gus Johnson's 25 paced the attack for Baltimore, which had nipped the Pistons 124-122 Saturday night.

In Saturday night's other games, Boston downed San Francisco 96-87, Cincinnati belted New York 130-124 and St. Louis whipped Philadelphia 118-110.

Ski Jump Mark Set at Westby

WESTBY, Wis. (AP)—A hill record of 319 feet was set under poor conditions Sunday in the 41st annual Snowflake Club Ski jumping tournament.

Matz Jensen of Oslo, Norway, a student at the University of Utah, broke by one foot the record set last year by John Ballanz of Minneapolis. Forty-degree weather softened the snow.

But Jensen's distance was not enough to give him first place over the combined style and distance of Jacob Charland of Three Rivers, Ont.

Charland's jumps of 296 and 250 feet gave him 209.2 points to 208 for Jensen.

Loris Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was fifth with 199.8 points for jumps of 286 and 242 feet.

Final Speak-Off in Contest Scheduled by Rampart Club

"Two to get ready" was the idea behind the speech practice and evaluation sessions held by the Rampart Toastmistress Club at the Ent Skyline Club. The readiness preparation is for Wednesday night when the final "speak-off" will be held to determine the club winner to be sent to the area contest.

At the first speech session, Mrs. G. W. Schmal introduced the contestants Mrs. N. J. Bruno, Mrs. V. J. Clarke, Mrs. R. T. Crosland, Mrs. W. K. Foster, Mrs. R. H. LaRue, Mrs. C. E. Monnett, and Mrs. S. O. Smelley. Opening Thought was given by Mrs. L. M. Watson who was also a timer with Mrs. J. P. Bernier. Tellers were Mrs. C. W. MacNabb and Mrs. R. P. Gift who also gave the Closing Thought. Hostess, Mrs. Bernier, introduced the guests who acted as judges and evaluators for the contestants; they were: Mrs. Carroll Dunn, Mrs. Glenn Frum, Mrs. C. R. Clark, Mrs. D. A. Derris, Mrs. B. R. Sorenson, Mrs. G. S. Pollay, and Mrs. R. J. Miller who was inducted during the meeting as a new member by First Vice President Mrs. Monnett.

At the second session, having profited by the evaluations given them, the contestants, Mrs. Bruno, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Crosland, Mrs. LaRue, and Mrs. Smelley, introduced by Mrs. Monnett spoke with more ease on a variety of subjects from "alien" to "souffle". The opening thought was given by new member, Mrs. Miller. Once again, a guest became a new member when Mrs. Dorris was inducted. Timers were Mrs. Bernier and Mrs. E. K. Walton.

The first and second place winners from the two Preliminary Speak-off Contests will be the contestants for the Finals. They are Mildred Kopis, Lydia Johnson, Fannette Meade and Val Varela. Judges for this event will be James B. Phillips, Milan H. Hubert, Judy Bell and Judy Harris.

The first place winner will enter the Toastmistress Council No. 2 Area Contest held in Denver, Colorado on March 13th. Reservations for the evening should be made not later than Wednesday noon, February 19th with Eunice Thiel, phone number 472-2990.

Catholic Daughters Initiate

Catholic Daughters of America Court Holy Family 1794, initiated new members during a ceremony in the parish hall of Holy Family Church, Security, Sunday, February 9 conducted by Mrs. Donald Emrich grand regent.

The drill team of Court St. Mary 513, Colorado Springs, assisted Members of the drill team are Mrs. Robert Driscoll, Mrs. Wilton Moldrup, Miss Katy Daly, Mrs. Ed Cox, Mrs. Eugene Hays, Mrs. John Snyder, Miss Estella Cordova, and Mrs. Anne Barrett, drill team coach. Mrs. Johnnie Zubal, organist, Mrs. Frank Rose.

Mrs. A. A. Sady, accompanied by Mrs. Homer Jenkins sang "Ave Maria".

The new class of seven members was named in honor of Mrs. Raymond Boucher, past grand regent of Court Holy Family.

Those initiated included Mrs. James Bauer, Mrs. Ken Kennison, Mrs. Robert Norman, Mrs. George Olson, Mrs. Hillard Rein, Mrs. John Sheehan and Mrs. Archie Williams.

A cafeteria banquet after the initiation was held at Johnnie's Garden Restaurant where the Rev. Michael Harrington gave an address. Mrs. Joe A. Hunke was toastmistress.

Guests included Miss Catherine Malone, State Regent, who welcomed the new members; Mrs. Mary Rohan, District Deputy; Mrs. Maurice Maddock, State Secretary; Mrs. A. A. Sady, Grand Regent of Court St. Mary, Mrs. Homer Jenkins, Mrs. Frank Smetowski and Mrs. Helen Currier of Court St. Mary, and Mrs. Estamie Marine and Miss Mary Auer of Court St. Rita, Denver.

Other predictions included the following:

—The food shopper will collect her purchases in a motorized cart and pay for them quickly at an electronic check-out counter which reads and records prices—then adds up the bill automatically.

—Steaks, pizza pies, hamburger, chickens and hams will be synthetics — either extruded from vegetable fibers or pressed from petroleum products.

—More foods will be freeze-dried close to their point of origin—at the peak of ripeness for fruits, close to the aging house for meats, by the sea for fish.

—Radiant panels in walls and ceilings will deliver automatically controlled warmth to building occupants. The panels also will become receivers of body heat. They will be inactive until locally activated when one or more persons enter the range of the units.

—At least 70 per cent of all cars produced will be air conditioned. There will be no waiting for the car to warm up on cold days or cool off on hot ones since auto temperature and humidity levels will be maintained at optimum levels.

—Surgeons will induce controlled suspended animation by refrigeration in the human body to slow down life processes for delicate and long surgery.

—The body temperature of astronauts will be reduced and they will be "thawed" prior to landing on a distant planet.

SECRETARY BURNED

DENVER (UPI)—A 45-year-old Denver secretary remained in critical condition today at Denver General Hospital, suffering from burns over 35 per cent of her body. She was identified as Mrs. Audrey Gallogly. Police said Mrs. Gallogly was found in her apartment early Saturday, apparently several hours after she had been burned by a flaming chair. The fire reportedly was started by a cigarette.

Mrs. Loren Boger.

Next meeting will be March 11, at the home of Mrs. Vern Smith, 525 Norman Dr., Security.

Mrs. Englert Will Address Pioneer Group

The February meeting of the El Paso County Pioneers' Association will be held at the Pioneers' Museum, 25 W. Kiowa St. at 2 p.m. Tuesday.

Carl Mathews, chairman of the program committee has announced that Mrs. Kenneth Englert will give a paper on "Milling All Around". This is a study of the early saw mills in El Paso County and of the Bassett family who lived at Bassett's Mill in 1870.

Hot spiced cider makes a fine cold-weather drink. Add about a tablespoon of brown sugar to every cup of cider and for the spices you can use stick cinnamon, whole cloves and allspice. If you tie the spice in a cheesecloth bag you won't have to do any straining before serving.

Dear Folks:
I am besieged with letters wanting to know how to wash a wool blanket! Here's the best way I have found, after much research, testing, and trying to do it myself.

If you have a dryer, put your blanket in it and let it tumble WITHOUT heat for a few minutes. This is, first and foremost, the most important step. Here's why:

The tumbling will shake out most of the loose dust and dirt. NEVER, NEVER, put any liquids on something that is dusty. This will cause more spots. If you do not have a dryer, take the blanket outside and shake it hard to remove this loose dirt and then dust or brush it with a brush.

Mix some water with a bit of good detergent in a small bowl. Pretreat the soiled spots with a soft brush which has been dipped in this detergent mixture.

Fill your washing machine with some lukewarm water and add three fourths to one cup of the same brand of detergent you used to pretreat the blanket. Do NOT add your blanket at this time. Turn your washer on and let it run a full three minutes so that the detergent is thoroughly dissolved. Then either turn off, or unplug your washing machine.

Put the dust-free blanket, which has been pre-treated, into this washing machine and let it soak for ten to fifteen minutes (not more than fifteen minutes, ladies). Do NOT turn the washing machine on as we do not want it to agitate. The agitator in a washing machine causes the little particles of wool to rub against one another and this is called "felting". That is the one thing we do not want.

Take your "plumber's friend" (and I still think it should be called a "housewife's friend") and plunge the blanket up and down in the water for a minute or so.

Pick up the blanket and turn it over a few times. Remember this water is NOT hot, it is only lukewarm, so your hands can stand that treatment.

Then plug in your washing machine again - remember to do this before fifteen minutes - turning it to spin dry this time and let all of the soiled water drain out. If you do not have a spin dryer machine, loosen the wringer on your wringer type washing machine, fold the blanket carefully, and run it through the wringer.

Fill the washing machine with lukewarm water again, and soak the blanket another ten minutes or so, using your plumber's friend again. Do NOT use your agitator. Never at any time, when washing a wool blanket, do we turn on the agitating process. Let your washing machine drain again.

Then after the blanket has spun dry, remove it and fill the washer a third time with warm water and add one half cup of vinegar. Put your blanket back in and let it soak about five minutes. Take that old "housewife's friend" and plunge that blanket up and down. Let it spin dry once more. The vinegar water need not be rinsed out. When the blanket is thoroughly dry you will have no vinegar odor.

I don't think there's anything like a dryer for drying blankets but I NEVER put a wool blanket in a dryer by itself. I always put four or five clean bath towels in the dryer first, then turn on the dryer, and let it heat the bath towels and tumble them for about five minutes.

Then is the time to put your blankets in the dryer with the bath towels. The bath towels will act as a buffer and brush against the fibers of the wool blanket, making them fluffy. Too, the bath towels will absorb the excess moisture and keep your blankets from getting Too Dry! This is exactly what we are looking for. Never, Never, NEVER, OVERDRY a wool blanket in a dryer. Let it run about twenty minutes.

Remove your blanket from the dryer while it is still slightly damp and contains a bit of moisture. Stretch the blanket out (if possible in the fresh air) and then let it finish drying. It may be hung over two clotheslines.

After the blanket is dry - then

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
Spades, 9-6-2; Hearts, K-10-8-2; Diamonds, A-9-5-3; Clubs, Q-10-8-2.

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Dia. Pass 2 Dia. Pass
3 Dia. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—A bid of three notrump strikes us as a reasonable gamble. Having protection in three suits and a maximum raise, you should be willing to risk the spade suit in the quest for the shortest road to game.

Q. 2—As South you hold:

Spades, J-10-6; Hearts, K-10-8-5-4; Diamonds, Q-6-2; Clubs, 9-5.

The bidding has proceeded:
West North East South
1 Clb. Dbl. Pass 1 Hrt.
Pass 1 N.T. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—Our vote is for a raise to two notrump. While normally such a raise denotes a holding of eight points (or seven points with a five card suit), we choose to raise with a point less than is normally prescribed because partner's hand is apt to be better than a minimum one notrump. A take-out double followed by a bid of one notrump will usually indicate a hand that is slightly better than an ordinary one notrump overall.

Q. 3—As South you hold:

Spades, K-9-7; Hearts, A-J-6-4-2; Diamonds, K-10-3; Clubs, 7-4.

The bidding has proceeded:
North East South West
1 Clb. Pass 1 Hrt. Pass
1 Spd. Pass ?

What do you bid now?

A—While there is a temptation to make the next bid in notrump, there is, unfortunately, no convenient notrump bid available, for the hand is just a shade too good for a rebid of one notrump, and yet it is not quite strong enough for a jump to two notrump, which is forcing to game. We suggest a raise to two spades, though normally we would avoid doing this with only three trumps when partner presumably has a four card suit. If partner rebids, we will then try three notrump on the next round.

Q. 4—As South you hold:

Spades, A-9-8; Hearts, A-10-7-5.

is the time to lay it across your dining room table and brush it well with a whisk broom or a clean vegetable brush. If neither of these are available, wash your hair brush and then use it! It is the best yet.

All that is left to do is press the binding with a slightly warm iron, put your clean blanket back on the bed. Keep your blankets clean, gals. They last longer.

Mary Shaffer Is Crowned Beta Sigma Phi Queen

The Beta Sigma Phi Valentine Ball attracted a record attendance of members, husbands, and friends to see the judging of twelve candidates for the Valentine queen of 1964. The dance was held at the Antlers and the candidates made a lovely picture in their formal gowns carrying beautiful arm bouquets. Dancing to the music of Floyd Frame and the orchestra, the event started at 9 p.m.

During the intermission Mrs. and Mrs. Carr of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio entertained the group with an exhibition dance.

As master of ceremonies, Jay Drennan took over the microphone and conducted the program in which the candidates paraded. The task of judging fell to three prominent local men: Col. James R. Young of the Air Defense Command; Tony Carr of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio; and Mr. Harvey Cray.

After careful deliberation, Mrs. Mary Shaffer of Epsilon Lambda was crowned queen by Miss Marjorie Parker, retiring queen. Mrs. Liz Stone of Beta Delta chapter and Miss Judy Fleener of Phi Alpha Delta chapter were chosen as princesses.

Other candidates were: Mrs. Jim Venable, Phi Rho; Mrs. Melvin Kouba, Alpha; Miss Madelyn Rader, Alpha Sigma; Mrs. Ray Ukena, Beta Xi; Mrs. Em Atkinson, Delta Lambda; Mrs. Ron Brown, Epsilon Gamma; Mrs. Roger Van Laningham, Epsilon Rho; Mrs. Douglas Cook, Xi Beta Mu; and Mrs. Erlene Estle, Xi Upsilon.

The Valentine dance is one of the Beta Sigma Phi City Council's annual projects. Mrs. Margo Lipe of Xi Alpha Lambda is this year's president. Mrs. Floyd Rose was chairman of the event, with four chapters, Epsilon Gamma, Phi Rho, Beta Delta, and Xi Eta making the arrangements.

Proceeds will go to the charitable projects of the city council.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Looks That Way!

DEAR ABBY: I am a senior in high school and I like a boy who is also a senior. Even though he has never asked me out, when we had our big Girl-Ask-Boy dance, I asked him to go. He said he was sorry but he was a Junior Volunteer Fireman, and he might get a call that night. Then the Rainbow Girls had a dance and I asked him again. He said his sister was having a baby and it might be born that night, so he didn't think he should make any plans. Now the Girls' Glee Club is giving their big Annual Hayride and I want to ask him, but I am wondering if maybe he might get the idea that I am chasing him. —BLONDE AND CUTE

DEAR BLONDE: He just might.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is a good-looking, well-educated, charming young woman in her early thirties. All her life she has disappointed us by her choice of friends. She was married and divorced three times in ten years to three of the lowest characters you could imagine. One is serving time now in a Federal penitentiary. She has recently taken up with another inferior type. He is lazy, illiterate and dishonest. We know we can't live our daughter's life for her, but we want to help her. Why, oh why, does an intelligent, well-bred girl, who could have had any number of fine men, prefer these worthless, good-for-nothing characters? —HEARTSICK MOTHER

DEAR HEARTSICK: Your daughter has a feeling of worthlessness, and is at ease only with those to whom she can feel superior. A psychiatrist could probably tell her why. But unless SHE wants to know, no one can help her.

DEAR ABBY: A relative is my concern. He is his own worst enemy. He is a poor listener, and will interrupt anyone to change the subject or to tell his point of view. He is arrogant and sarcastic when someone disagrees with him, whether it is at the bridge table or in general conversation. His bragging is insufferable, and if he didn't have money nobody would put up with him for a minute. I would like to be helpful. But how? —A RELATIVE

DEAR RELATIVE: He does not want "help"—he wants an audience. Avoid him.

THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

THESE ARE THE WORKERS

RAILROADER DOCTOR LINEMAN MINER STEELWORKER FARMER LAWYER GROCER SALESMAN REPORTER

Ten little free workers in this country fine and fair. But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care! Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine. Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.

Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate. Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

Eight little free workers thought this country heaven. But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.

Seven little free workers—'till the miners got in a fix. Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six.

Six little free workers 'till the day did arrive. The steel mills too were federalized—then there were five.

Five little free workers—but the farmers are free no more. The farms have been collectivized—that leaves only four.

Four little free workers till the government did decree. All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few. But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done. With clerk's at work in federal stores—that leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun. Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.

Ten little workers—but they are no longer free. They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see. And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree. And work together instead of saying "it never can happen to me!"

Yes... this could happen to you. This little story could come true unless each of us works to preserve free enterprise.

GAZETTE-TELEGRAPH

84-Year-Old Blacksmith Works 14 Hours a Day

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM
ROSETO, Pa. (AP)—The doctor sized up the sharp-eyed, muscular man plying his trade at anvil and forge and said: "You've got to admit they don't come like that any more."

He was observing Peter Ronca, who, nearing 84, works up to 14 hours some days at the craft of blacksmithing, rides a bicycle for fun and boasts a young man's appetite.

Peter Ronca might easily stand for a proud symbol of this Lehigh Valley town of about 1,700, nearly all of Italian origin, which is so hearty the experts scarcely can credit it.

In 1962 and again last year medical teams from the University of Oklahoma put Ronca and his fellow Rosetanos under examination to try to find out why they ticked so vigorously and so long despite a blithe disregard of so many commonly accepted health rules.

In Roseto, the overweight carry their poundage as Don Quixote wore his armor. Dear to the heart of Roseto is the town's reputation, recorded by the University of Oklahoma investigators, of being among the biggest eaters in the land.

The paradox is that the medical teams found the death rate from heart disease here was about a third of the national average. Even that doesn't tell the whole story. From 1956 to 1963 nobody died from heart disease in Roseto.

What's the secret? There is no shortage of theory: food and drink, heredity, environment, the gift of laughter, an unruffled way of life.

"I've always worked hard," Ronca told questioners. "Maybe that's the secret."

A blacksmith and toolmaker at quarries in this eastern Pennsylvania slate belt for 70 years Ronca can't remember when he didn't work.

He was 8 years old when his family brought him here from the Italian village of Roseto near Naples. At 10 the boy went to work in the quarries.

Spare moments he spent in the quarry blacksmith shop. By tinkering around and lending a hand, he picked up the trade.

Ronca has to laugh when people ask, "what good is a blacksmith these days?"

"There mistake is that they think a blacksmith does nothing but work with horseshoes," he says. "I haven't made a horseshoe in 40, maybe 45 years."

"Most of the work nowadays is making and tempering tools. I specialize in forging quarrying tools such as drills up to 22 feet long."

"Some say it is a dead or dying trade. If so, it's not for want of demand. It's because it gets harder and harder to interest young men in a trade that's so exacting. Too bad, because I need help. I always have more work than I can handle."

He also helps two of his sons, Peter Jr., who has a wrought iron business, and Nicholas, a garage owner. For Peter he helps make fancy railings, metal furniture, planters, and similar pieces. For Nicholas he makes and repairs automobile parts. On the side he sharpens tools for contractors, utility companies and cement mills.

To squeeze so much into a single day he gets up at 4 a.m. If his family can cajole him into quitting before 7:30 or 8 p.m., it's a major triumph.

In summer, Ronca likes to spend an hour or so in the evening—and much of his weekends—in his vegetable garden. In other seasons his chief recreations are reading, watching television, enjoying the companionship of family and old friends.

He and his wife, Mary, 77, live on their own. Married nearly 60 years, they had six children in all, losing three. The third surviving son, Pasquale, is a foreman in a blouse factory.

Ronca, like most Rosetanos, is musical, specializing on cornet, mandolin and guitar. He was a semiprofessional much of his life.

He didn't wear glasses until he was nearly 75 and his friends relate, he still can climb a tree. Just before his 83rd birthday last June 29 he chopped down a 60-foot tree.

On what does this man feed to remain so hardy?

For one thing, meat two or three times a day. Spaghetti, too, nearly every day, along with lots of vegetables. He likes his wine and beer and is seldom without a pipe or a chew of tobacco.

A couple of years ago he decided to cut down a bit on the food intake. As with other Rosetanos now it was commonplace for him to stow away a snack of sausage, cheese, hard-boiled eggs, anchovies, hot peppers and pickles radishes onions and cucumbers olives and celery, loaves upon loaves of fresh bread, doughnuts and a copious flow of wine.

The medical experts figure all they can do is to go on taking tests and checking backgrounds in the effort to equate the heavy eating with the long and happy life of the Rosetanos.

"Does the explanation lie in contentment?" asked one of the survey team. "It may well be so. These people have escaped the rat race that tears so many Americans apart. They don't worry; they envy no one; they are not impressed by show and swank; they refuse to spoil their lives with driving, destroying ambitions."

Ronca makes no pretensions to philosophy. He and his friends accept the good life without bothering overmuch to look for causes.

"I guess we know how to be happy, how to appreciate what we have," Ronca said. "We find happiness in ourselves."

Every so often an outsider will broach the subject of retirement to Peter Ronca.

Gently and patiently Ronca explains that he might, one of these days, give up his work at the quarry, but only to take on a bigger job—opening a blacksmith shop of his own.

"I've got to work till I die,"

Elder Statesman Will Form New Greek Cabinet

By ALLAN JACKS

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Elder statesman George Papandreu will form a new Greek government backed by a solid majority in Parliament following his moderate Center Union party's sweeping election victory.

Papandreu, 76, was expected at the royal palace Tuesday to accept King Paul's summons to form a new Cabinet. It will be his third term as premier.

Nearly complete returns from the voting Sunday showed the Center Union had won 175 to 180 seats in the 300-member single-chamber Parliament, allowing Papandreu's party to rule with an absolute majority in the next four years.

The Center Union cut sharply into the strength of the rightist National Radical Union and the pro-Communist United Democratic Left. About 4.5 million persons in this nation of 8.4 million voted.

The vote from 11,534 polling stations out of a total of 11,581: Center Union 2,369,638 or 52.7 per cent; National Radical Union 1,572,043 or 35 per cent; National Radical Union 1,572,043 or 35 per cent; United Democratic Left 538,743 or 11.9 per cent.

The Greeks voted for the second time in four months. Nov. 3, the Center Union nosed out the Radical Union, then headed by ex-Premier Constantine Caramanlis, but lacked 13 seats for a majority.

Papandreu formed a government but resigned after only 50 days in office when his first vote of confidence demonstrated that he could govern only with Communist support.

Although Papandreu's government can be expected to continue Greece's pro-Western foreign policy, it is not likely to compromise readily on the Cyprus issue, which threatens the eastern flank of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Even as Greeks voted, newspapers described the situation on Cyprus as grave and warned of a Turkish invasion of the Mediterranean island. Both Greece and Turkey are NATO members.

Panayiotis Canelopoulos, who succeeded Caramanlis as leader of the Radical Union, pledged that his party would be a "useful opposition."

Papandreu held his first government post in 1917. He headed Greece's government in exile during World War II and was the country's first postwar premier, until January, 1945. He has been elected to Parliament 13 times.

The election also carried into Parliament Papandreu's son, Andreas, who recently renounced U.S. citizenship to enter Greek politics.

Andreas, 45, served in the U.S. Navy during the war and became a citizen in 1946. He has taught at Harvard, the University of Minnesota and the University of California (Berkeley). He returned to Greece last year with his Chicago-born wife and their four children.

Every U.S. senator has a glass shaker of black blotting sand on his desk, a custom dating to the days of quill pens.

IMPORTED FIREMEN
SANA'A, Yemen (AP) — In past years in Yemen, if your house caught fire you just watched it burn—or did your best with a bucket. The country never had a fire department. But under its new development program, the government is now training a firefighting corps for the capital of Sana'a. They are still faced with the problem of the lack of running water in the city, which draws its supply from a few wells. Until the corps is trained, imported firemen from Egypt take over.

Sixth-Graders Draw Up Behavior Code

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A class of sixth-graders have drawn up a code of behavior they want their parents to follow.

Their teacher, Mrs. John Matthews of nearby East Point, said Sunday the code shows the children want parental guidance but no bullying.

Some of their ideas:

- "If you are mad at one child, don't take it out on everybody."
- "Don't blame everything on the oldest child."
- "Make children work. It won't hurt them."
- "Don't stay on the phone all day or all night."
- "Don't argue in front of a child."
- "Don't treat them (children) like babies, but don't let them grow up too fast."

McNamara Drops Assistant as Job Is Abolished

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has quietly ordered a shake-up in his office staff, abolishing the $20,000-a-year post of "administrative assistant to the secretary of defense."

J. R. Loftis, a Pentagon official for 17 years and administrative assistant to former secretaries Neil H. McElroy and Thomas S. Gates Jr. as well as McNamara, was informed that his job no longer existed. No announcement was made of the shakeup, in contrast to the usual practice of publishing reorganizations that affect either far-flung armed forces or the staff of more than 2,200 constituting the Office of Secretary of Defense (OSD).

Asked about the circumstances, the Pentagon told newsmen "Mr. Loftis has been notified that the position of administrative assistant to the secretary of defense has been abolished."

Loftis, who is 52 and started Pentagon service under the nation's first defense secretary, the late James Forrestal, now "has the right to seek retirement or to request reassignment to another job" at his present pay if a "suitable" job is available at that salary.

Was he offered another job? The answer given to that question was that "at the present time he has neither requested reassignment in the Department of Defense nor retirement."

Loftis told a reporter he now had a "unique opportunity" to retire three years ahead of time under Civil Service regulations, because his job was abolished, and would seek private employment. Asked about his relations with McNamara, he said he thought he "got along as well as any" of the Pentagon staff.

An administrative assistant, Loftis headed an office that performed a variety of budgetary, personnel and administrative services.

MAYBE HE'S MARRIED

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — It was an unlucky day for the thief who broke into the locked car of George Morley, a clothing salesman.

The loot? One hundred twenty-three maternity dresses, all size 10.

Scout Executive Wins in Tussle With Slum Boy

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Robert Pomeroy, Boy Scout district executive, was confronted one evening by the razor-sharp point of a switch blade against his stomach at a troop meeting in this city's tough downtown section.

The wielder of the knife was a young hoodlum who didn't want his street friends becoming Boy Scouts.

Pomeroy disarmed the boy, who fled on his bicycle. A week later he returned to a troop meeting. According to a report made later, he had been impressed by the Scout executive's fearlessness in disarming him. After a few weeks he joined the troop and Pomeroy says, "this was just a few months ago, but already he has come a long way as a Scout."

Sweazey says that Scouting, which is observing its 54th year in the United States, reaches about 25 per cent of the boys in the country, but only 10 per cent of the boys in the depressed "inner-city" areas of U.S. cities.

"The objective of our present drive is to bring our program to more boys in these areas where Scouting is most needed," he says. "We are working closely with housing officials, urban renewal authorities, settlement and neighborhood houses, churches, schools, civic organizations and the police."

Sweazey said one of the most effective means of penetrating hard-pressed urban areas is through close cooperation with the Public Housing Administration. Housing and local Scout officials jointly survey the Scouting potentialities of a given neighborhood. They determine the number of active and potential Scouts and the availability of meeting places. Committees of parents are formed to sponsor troops; adult leaders are trained; local businessmen, churches and civic organizations are asked to lend a hand.

Opportunities also are hunted for boys to earn money to pay their membership fees and buy uniforms and equipment.

The results are decisive whenever Scouting penetrates the inner-city, Sweazey says. He gives one example: In a section of Detroit, juvenile delinquency dropped from 1,821 to 780 cases a year after community forces were mobilized and the number of Scout units was increased from 23 to 60.

House Unit Asks Production Of New Bomber

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Armed Services Committee brushed aside recommendations by Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and urged last week an immediate start on a new long-range bomber to replace the B52 and B58.

It authorized last week an extra $92 million for the proposed plane and for work on an improved interceptor. The interceptor would be designed to shoot down enemy bombers at distances so great the attacking planes would have no chance to launch their missiles.

The administration does not have to spend the money even if Congress should authorize and then appropriate it.

The committee included the funds in a record $16.9 billion bill authorizing funds for more than 2,700 new aircraft and 35,000 missiles for the armed services. The bill also would provide 53 new warships, including six atomic-powered attack submarines.

In doing so it overrode the advice of McNamara, whose plans call for gradual replacement of manned bombers with missiles. Instead, the committee adhered more closely to the testimony of Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff.

The long controversy over missiles and bombers was given new impetus last month when Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the GOP presidential candidate, charged that U.S. long-range missiles were unreliable.

McNamara denied it and accused Goldwater of being "politically irresponsible."

Rocky Says Barry on Outside Politically

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said last week it is "completely unrealistic" to think that the Republican party would nominate Sen. Barry Goldwater for the presidency on the basis of the Arizona's present views.

Campaigning against Goldwater in New Hampshire, the New York governor said here the conservative senator's statements indicate he is outside "the main stream of American thinking."

Meanwhile, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, also seeking GOP votes in the March 10 New Hampshire primary, said she is tempted to break her long string of Senate roll calls in order to push her campaign harder.

Before giving his views on Goldwater's chances, Rockefeller hit a sports note as he was winding up three days of activity in western New Hampshire. Speaking in an area attuned to winter sports, Rockefeller said he opposes sending U.S. amateurs to compete in Olympic games with "Russian professionals supported by their government."

On the Democratic side, President Johnson was in St. Louis for its 200th anniversary celebration shaking all the hands he could and denouncing critics who may "seek political gain from baseless denunciation of the United States."

But Johnson — who previously complained about what he called "bellyachers" — welcomed what he called "fair discussion of honest difference" both at home and abroad. He said from that freedom prosper.

Mrs. Smith had indicated earlier she would only visit New Hampshire when there was no question of a vote in the Senate that would require her presence in Washington. She is proud of her record of answering every one — except one when she was ill — of some 1,600 Senate roll calls.

On a detour across the state line into Lawrence, Mass., to visit the Lawrence Eagle Tribune, the Maine senator said:

"The hospitality, the warmth of the people I've met during this trip, and the interest and support they have indicated are causing me to do some very serious thinking about staying in Washington."

"I'd like to come up here (to New Hampshire) a lot during the next three weeks and I'm going to be giving that some very serious thought during the next three days."

Goldwater was not campaigning Friday. He is spending the weekend at his home in Arizona.
